Nixon Says HHH Pursues Strategy Of Desperation

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, here with Spiro T. Agnew for a rally, says Hubert H. Humphrey is pursuing "a strategy of desperation" and hopes to enter the White House by the back door.

The Republican presidential candidate and Agnew, his running mate, will appear tonight at a rally in Madison Square Garden. It will be their first such appearance together since the GOP convention. The Republicans have purchased an hour's time beginning at 9:30 p.m. EST for a live telecast of the rally over the ABC network.

The only other announced activity on Nixon's schedule today was the filing of absentee ballots by himself, wife Pat and 22-year-old daughter Julie. They'll be flying from Los Angeles to New York on election day.

In a national radio address Wednesday night, Nixon challenged Democratic rival Humphrey to join him in pledging that, should the election be thrown into the House of Representatives, both would agree to support the candidate getting the most votes.

With increasing frequency, Nixon has been raising the possibility of a deadlocked election. It was not clear whether he is genuinely concerned that he might fail to win enough electoral votes to capture the presidency on Nov. 5.

Nixon said Humphrey knows

"he cannot win this election on his own" but is relying on "a strategy of desperation."

"If Hubert Humphrey is to enter the White House," he said, "it would have to be through the back door, through the help of a third party to divide the majority."

The Republican nominee said that should Humphrey be outvoted on Tuesday yet win the presidency in the House, "the price America would have to pay... would be four years of division, dissension and despair."

"I call upon Hubert Humphrey to agree with me to accept the decision of the American people, and to support whichever candidate receives the highest popular vote," Nixon added.

Minor Candidates Appear On Ballot In Many States

WASHINGTON (AP) — Voters who don't like Humphrey, Nixon or Wallace will be able in some states to take their pick of presidential candidates running on platforms ranging from demands for peace now to fair treatment of visitors from outer space.

Twenty-five states will have presidential candidates on their ballots from at least one of the nine minor parties which have entered states opposing the three major contenders.

Votes for these candidates will be tabulated in most of the states after ballots are counted for the three tickets that have qualified in all states — Hubert H. Humphrey and Edmund Muskie for the Democrats, Richard M. Nixon and Spiro T. Agnew for the Republicans and George C. Wallace and Curtis E. LeMay for the American Independents.

Here's a rundown on the minor parties and their standard bearers:

The Socialist Workers party, represented by Fred Halstead of New York for president and Paul Bouteille of Newark, N.J., for vice president, has the longest list of state entries among the minors—19.

A part of the Trotskyite movement that broke off from Moscow Communism in 1928, it is basically a peace-in-Vietnam effort this year, with Negro control of black communities as a second issue.

Halstead, 40, works for two prominent peace groups.

Bouteille, 36, is a Negro and was a follower of Malcolm X, the

Refugees Die At Fast Rate In Nigeria

LAGOS, Nigeria (AP) — Ten thousand refugees from the civil war are pouring into camps in southeast Nigeria each week, and at one time the death rate is 30 to 40 per thousand each day, a U.N. observer reported today.

A total of 320,000 persons in 90 camps around Uyo get one meal a day from relief supplies, N.H. Gussing of Sweden said.

"In some of these camps the condition of the people is very poor," he said in an interim report. "Many... showed seropositive signs of malnutrition."

"At one place the death rate was estimated to be between 30 and 40 persons out of every thousand per day, mainly young children and the elderly."

Gussing said relief activity "as a whole was impressive, but present staff and resources were only just adequate."

He reported that 800 tons of food are being delivered daily to the camps in the Uyo area, and to furnish the refugees there a second meal would require another 600 tons a day.

slain Black Muslim leader. Next in the number of entries comes the Socialist Labor party, which claims to represent the original Socialist movement in the nation. It is on the ballot in 13 states.

The candidates are Hemming A. Blomen, 57, of Cambridge, Mass., a machine assembler, for president, and George Sam Taylor, 53, of Philadelphia, an electronics technician, for vice president.

The Peace and Freedom party, another organization committed to withdrawal from Vietnam and local power in black communities, is on nine ballots, but its candidates vary from state to state.

New Asian Flu Epidemic Predicted

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—A vaccine being developed to combat Hong Kong influenza will not be ready soon enough to avert an international epidemic, says the chief of the U.S. Public Health Service's Communicable Disease Center.

Dr. David J. Sencer said Wednesday the world may be on the threshold of an epidemic of the new type of Asian influenza, discovered this summer in Hong Kong.

"The doctors say it is mild," he added, "but those who have had it tend to argue."

The first case identified outside of Asia was a traveler who came down with the disease in Atlanta a few weeks ago, three days after a visit to Hong Kong, Sencer said.

He made his remarks in a speech to the 17th annual meeting of the American Society of Tropical Medicine and Hygiene.

The new strain of Asian influenza broke out in Hong Kong in July and has killed 25 people. It also has been found in Singapore and Formosa.

The health service advisory committee reported in September that the Hong Kong strain showed marked change from previous strains, and "increases the probability that Asian flu will occur extensively in the United States in the 1968-69 season."

No specific vaccine will be available for three to six months, the committee said. However, the current vaccine for Asian flu may still be partially effective.

The original Asian strain caused a worldwide epidemic when it first appeared in 1957, and an epidemic in this country last year, doctors said.

Find Remains Of Atomic Sub Off Azores

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Navy announced today that portions of the lost nuclear submarine Scorpion have been located, more than 10,000 feet deep in the Atlantic.

Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of naval operations, announced that "objects identified as portions of the hull of the submarine USS Scorpion have been located about 400 miles southwest of the Azores in more than 10,000 feet of water."

The discovery, reported by a Navy oceanographic research ship Wednesday night, culminates a search of more than five months since the atomic powered submarine disappeared with a crew of 99 officers and men en route from the Mediterranean Sea to Norfolk, Va.

The Scorpion last was heard from by radio on May 21 when it was about 250 miles south of the Azores.

Although there have been periodic reports that the general location of the remains of the Scorpion was known, Moorer's announcement was the first word that the resting place had been found.

The 10,000-plus foot depth where the hull pieces were located is far below the "crush depth" of the submarine, which was reported able to operate only as far down as about 1,200 feet.

The research ship Mizar reported that the Scorpion's location "has been confirmed by means of remotely controlled underwater photography," Moorer's announcement said.

The Mizar and another research vessel, the Bowditch, using underwater sensors and cameras, have for months been scanning the ocean bottom in the general area where the find was made Wednesday.

Last July, this was called a "highly suspect" area.

The Navy said the Mizar is remaining on the scene "in an attempt to locate and photograph additional portions of the Scorpion's hull."

After that, the Navy said, the research vessel will return to port and photographs will be flown to Washington and Norfolk for a detailed analysis.

"Present information is considered fragmentary and consists of on-scene interpretation of initial photography," the Navy said.

Seek Execution Stay For Keaton

James A. Rhodes is being asked a second time to spare the life of condemned slayer Cleo Vernon Keaton, 31, of Dayton, scheduled for execution next Thursday.

Defense attorney Emanuel Nadlin of Dayton said today he had mailed a second application for executive clemency to the governor's office.

Rhodes denied clemency last Aug. 5 on a 6-1 recommendation of the state parole board.

Keaton is scheduled to die Nov. 8 in the electric chair at Ohio Penitentiary for the 1965 killing of Maurice L. Francis, 27, a Columbus factory worker who lived in Pickaway County.

Wallace Saves Dismal Day By Stirring Small Audience

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — George C. Wallace saw two sights Wednesday unusual in his third-party presidential campaign: impassive faces and a half-filled hall.

Only his talents as a cheerleader and orator, plus 5,000 cheering followers and 200 helpful hecklers rescued him from a potentially dismal political day.

Courting Pennsylvania's 29 electoral votes, Wallace appeared in Philadelphia's Spectrum which adjoins the area of his greatest support in the city.

The sports arena was set up to accommodate 13,500 persons. The president of the arena estimated the crowd at "no more than 5,000."

Wallace drew attention away from the empty seats, however, orchestrating a 13-minute ovation by strolling back and forth across the stage raising his arms and popping salutes, and in the end the rally was one of the noisiest and most responsive of his campaign.

Several scuffles erupted between Wallace backers and hecklers, but approximately 400 police, inside and outside the Spectrum, prevented any serious violence.

Police said 22 persons were arrested on disorderly conduct charges at the Spectrum rally and outside the hotel where Wallace spent Wednesday night.

Earlier Wednesday a crowd of 5,000 listened politely but silently to Wallace in the Market Plaza at Wheeling, W. Va., about 250 student protesters stood stoically in the front ranks.

Wallace goaded the students, all from Wheeling College, with his customary heckler taunts but the protesters would not be stirred. They held placards, wore black armbands and raised their hands in the V peace symbol.

Russian Invasion Proves Expensive

WASHINGTON (AP)—It cost the Soviet Union half a billion dollars to invade Czechoslovakia, U.S. officials believe, and the expense of occupation is going to drive the price of intervention even higher.

Officials said the $500 million figure is an educated guess that represents only the cost of the preparation and the actual invasion itself last Aug. 21.

Until it is clear how many Soviet troops are going to stay in Czechoslovakia and how long, officials say it will be impossible to put a price tag on the overall venture.

Again Reports No Agreement With Viet Reds

SAIGON (AP) — Amid worldwide speculation that the United States is about to stop the bombing of North Vietnam, President Nguyen Van Thieu told his army today "when we are near to a new step of true and guaranteed peace" the struggle is more difficult and fiercer.

Thieu did not attempt to explain this new step, but he had told reporters earlier that North Vietnam had not agreed to U.S. terms for a bombing halt and "we cannot decide to halt the bombing" unless there was some sign of reciprocity from Hanoi.

In a five-minute, taped television address to government troops, Thieu said he was "determined to win over all obstacles and pressure to success" and added: "I believe in your strong support. I need your victories in the battlefield to fight for peace."

At another point he said: "I think that none of us will accept a surrender to the Communists. I am sure that we will win."

"When we are near to a new step of true and guaranteed peace, the common struggle of all the military and civilians is more difficult and more fierce... I, the government and your leaders, must have strong support from all of you... so our (Continued on Page 2)

Pornography Exhibited

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The usual pamphlets on Medicare and handicraft programs for the blind were in strange company at an Ohio Welfare Conference meeting Wednesday.

An exhibit of pornographic publications was presented by the Cleveland League of Decent Literature.

When a reporter observed that some women blushed on looking at the exhibits, Helen Holmes, president of the league, said this was intended.

"You see," she said, "people don't know how bad it is."

She said she was most shocked by innocuous looking magazines showing smiling youngsters on the cover. Inside advertisements offered $5 courses in "cruising" which, Mrs. Holmes said, were courses in perversion.

Many of the exhibits were contributed by the Columbus League for Decent Literature. Some were purchased on Columbus newsstands.

Issue Injunction Against Trainmen

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Judge Ben C. Green has granted a temporary restraining order against a wildcat work stoppage by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (BRT) in Marion, Ohio.

The order was requested by the Erie Lackawanna Railway Co. and Judge Green Wednesday set Nov. 8 for a hearing on the railroad's request to make the order permanent.

Area Marshal Arrested For Embezzlement

Harry Albery, marshal of South Bloomfield, was arrested by Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff Thursday morning on charges of embezzlement.

The charge was filed against Albery by South Bloomfield Mayor Lester George in Circleville Municipal Court Oct. 28.

Albery allegedly converted $662 to his own use from moneys collected as marshal of the village on Route 23.

The shortage was first observed by Mayor George in the bond money that Albery collected from traffic violators. Upon discovering the discrepancy in Albery's book, an investigation by the state auditor and the bonding company was ordered, according to Mayor George.

ALBURY has been under suspension for the past several weeks pending investigation.

Preliminary hearing was held before Municipal Court Judge Sterling Lamb about 10:30 a.m. Thursday. The case was continued by Judge Lamb, who released Albery on a $500 bond.

Pope's Cabinet Holds Meeting On Disobedience

VATICAN CITY (AP) — A Council of Cardinals acting as Pope Paul VI's cabinet met behind closed doors today amid speculation it was an emergency session to consider the rising tide of disobedience within the Roman Catholic church.

It was only the second meeting of the council since the Pope set it up last year to act as his cabinet. The very rarity of its sessions lent weight to reports of an emergency atmosphere inside the Holy See.

Vatican sources said the council, whose members are the cardinals who head the various Vatican congregations or ministries, may also have discussed the Vatican's tax relations with Italy.

The cardinals met as members of the Italian Parliament let it be known that the Vatican would be allowed to pay its tax backlog—estimated at more than $11 million—on the installment plan.

Situation Muddled If U.S. Must Name President

By DICK BARNES

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democrats hold a narrow lead in races for the House of Representatives. But as election day nears, the potential lineup for any House election of a president becomes more muddled.

A state-by-state Associated Press survey shows Democrats ahead in 231 districts—13 more than needed to control the 435-member House. Republicans lead in 180 districts and 24 are rated tossups in the evaluations made a week before voting.

Democrats control the present House 245-187 with three seats vacant.

The survey also turned up at least 85 candidates with a good chance of winning who say if the presidential election goes to the House, they would support a popular vote for winner for president even if he isn't their party's candidate.

The new House would inherit the job of picking the next president if no candidate receives 270 or more votes in the electoral college, whose votes are cast Dec. 16 and counted Jan. 6. If the election goes to the House each state, regardless of size, would cast one vote.

Translating survey results into control of state delegations leaves each of the three presidential candidates well short of the 26 state votes he would need to win in the House.

If House candidates who now lead are elected, Republican Richard M. Nixon apparently would get the votes of 17 states, Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey 12 and third-party candidate George C. Wallace 1—Alabama.

Votes of Hawaii, Kansas and Nevada would go to whoever wins the popular vote in that state. Montana would be unable to vote because of a deadlock delegation.

Sixteen other states are question marks as of now. Tossup states leave party control of some states in doubt and in many there are candidates who say they might vote for other than their party's nominee.

Some House candidates say they would back the presidential candidate who won the national popular vote. A petition advocating this position was signed by 29 Democratic congressmen and 25 Republicans. But now there is some question whether it remains in effect since it did not get heavier support.

Some candidates say they would vote for the man who carried their state and others say they'd follow the popular vote of their congressional district.

Many candidates said they'd stick with their party in any event, but numerous others refused to say what they would do.

The pressure of party discipline—with its possible threats that choice committee assignments or seniority might be taken away—could also persuade some dissidents to return to party line voting.

Based on current standings and statements, the Nixon status would be Alaska, Arizona, Delaware, Idaho, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Hampshire, North Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

The Humphrey states—some particularly subject to Wallace inroads—would be Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas and West Virginia.

Question mark states as of now are California, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Maine, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Virginia and Washington.

HHH Praises Protesters, Wants More Of The Same

NEWARK, N.J. (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey proposed today paying students and giving them academic credit while they work in politics and government.

"We hear a lot this year about student protests and the revolution of the young," the Democratic presidential candidate said in an address prepared for students at Fairleigh Dickinson University. "I hope we'll keep on hearing from you."

As president, he said, he would propose that students be given national merit fellowships in government—"that they be subsidized and given academic credit while working at politics and government."

The program—perhaps patterned after the present White House and congressional fellowships—would be open to all qualified students.

"I want to keep the two-party system alive and responsive," he said, "not sterile and removed from the realities of our society. I want to avoid a situation where young progressive people bypass the democratic processes and lose themselves in a series of frustrating movements."

Humphrey, focusing the final days of his uphill campaign in those states with a major share of electoral votes, moves today through New Jersey which many political forecasters have placed in Richard M. Nixon's column.

He drew large, enthusiastic crowds out into the cold around New York City Wednesday, including an estimated 15,000 to a garment district rally at 7th Avenue and 36th Street and an average of 5,000 at each of four rallies in boroughs and suburbs around Manhattan.

The speech was virtually the same everywhere. "At this stage," he told reporters, "all you can do is give them a pep talk, get out the vote. They just want to see what you look like. You could recite the Gettysburg Address and they wouldn't remember what you said."

Abrams Position On Bombing Given

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Creighton W. Abrams Jr. was reported today to have told President Johnson he could live with a bombing halt in North Vietnam if the enemy continued the current low level of military activity.

Sources said the U.S. commander in the Vietnam war took this position during secret White House talks Tuesday.

Courting Pennsylvania's 29 electoral votes, Wallace appeared in Philadelphia's Spectrum which adjoins the area of his greatest support in the city. The sports arena was set up to accommodate 13,500 persons. The president of the arena estimated the crowd at "no more than 5,000."

Wallace drew attention away from the empty seats, however, orchestrating a 13-minute ovation by strolling back and forth across the stage raising his arms and popping salutes, and in the end the rally was one of the noisiest and most responsive of his campaign.

Several scuffles erupted between Wallace backers and hecklers but approximately 400 police, inside and outside the Spectrum, prevented any serious violence.

Police said 22 persons were arrested on disorderly conduct charges at the Spectrum rally and outside the hotel where Wallace spent Wednesday night.

Earlier Wednesday a crowd of 5,000 listened politely but silently to Wallace in the Market Plaza at Wheeling, W. Va., about 250 student protesters stood stoically in the front ranks.

Wallace goaded the students, all from Wheeling College, with his customary heckler taunts but the protesters would not be stirred. They held placards, wore black armbands and raised their hands in the V peace symbol.

Russian Invasion Proves Expensive

WASHINGTON (AP)—It cost the Soviet Union half a billion dollars to invade Czechoslovakia, U.S. officials believe, and the expense of occupation is going to drive the price of intervention even higher.

Officials said the $500 million figure is an educated guess that represents only the cost of the preparation and the actual invasion itself last Aug. 21.

Until it is clear how many Soviet troops are going to stay in Czechoslovakia and how long, officials say it will be impossible to put a price tag on the overall venture.

Dakota, Ohio, South Dakota, Utah, Vermont, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

The Humphrey states—some particularly subject to Wallace inroads—would be Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, New York, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Texas and West Virginia.

Question mark states as of now are California, Connecticut, Florida, Illinois, Maine, Mississippi, Missouri, New Jersey, New Mexico, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Carolina, Virginia and Washington.

Again Reports No Agreement With Viet Reds

SAIGON (AP) — Amid worldwide speculation that the United States is about to stop the bombing of North Vietnam, President Nguyen Van Thieu told his army today "when we are near to a new step of true and guaranteed peace" the struggle is more difficult and fierce.

Thieu did not attempt to explain this new step, but he had told reporters earlier that North Vietnam had not agreed to U.S. terms for a bombing halt and "we cannot decide to halt the bombing" unless there was some sign of reciprocity from Hanoi.

In a five-minute, taped television address to government troops, Thieu said he was "determined to win over all obstacles and pressure to success" and added: "I believe in your strong support. I need your victories in the battlefield to fight for peace."

At another point he said: "I think that none of us will accept a surrender to the Communists. I am sure that we will win."

"When we are near to a new step of true and guaranteed peace, the common struggle of all the military and civilians is more difficult and more fierce... I, the government and your leaders, must have strong support from all of you... so our

THE lowest temperatures of the season were recorded last night in the Roundtown area when the thermometer registered 28 degrees... At the same time, the heaviest frost of the season covered the ground creating the look of newly-fallen snow in some areas... Continued sunny skies and rising temperatures have been forecast through Friday with a high reading in the mid 70s predicted for Friday.

ON such a fine day as today Postmaster Charles Walters commented that he "would make two trips to the bank" ... normally, the daily trek is accomplished in a single trip.

Pornography Exhibited

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The usual pamphlets on Medicare and handicraft programs for the blind were in strange company at an Ohio Welfare Conference meeting Wednesday.

An exhibit of pornographic publications was presented by the Cleveland League of Decent Literature.

When a reporter observed that some women blushed on looking at the exhibits, Helen Homes, president of the league, said this was intended.

"You see," she said, "people don't know how bad it is." She said she was most shocked by innocuous looking magazines showing smiling youngsters on the cover. Inside advertisements offered $5 courses in "cruising" which, Mrs. Holmes said, were courses in perversion.

Many of the exhibits were contributed by the Columbus League for Decent Literature. Some were purchased on Columbus newsstands.

Issue Injunction Against Trainmen

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — U.S. District Judge Ben C. Green has granted a temporary restraining order against a wildcat work stoppage by the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen (BRT) in Marion, Ohio.

The order was requested by the Erie Lackawanna Railway Co. and Judge Green Wednesday set Nov. 8 for a hearing on the railroad's request to make the order permanent.

The Constitution party has put up Richard K. Troxell of Houston, Tex., and Merle Thayer, Davenport, Iowa, in North Dakota.

Kirby J. Hensley, a Modesto, Calif., minister, is bidding for the White House in Iowa under the banner of the Universal party.

Hensley, 56, got 19 votes for president in 1964. The Universal platform includes civil treatment for beings from other worlds who may visit this planet.

stand for peace is safeguarded and we can overcome all obstacles and pressures, and we can safeguard our independence and liberty."

In Tokyo, the newspaper Tokyo Shimbun quoted Australian correspondent Wilfred Burchett as saying that the Viet Cong has ordered a de-escalation of fighting in South Vietnam in expectation of a U.S. bombing halt.

Burchett, who often reflects Hanoi's views, said the North Vietnamese are reacting guardedly to rumors of a bombing halt but judge that there is a possibility it could happen before next Tuesday's presidential election.

Burchett expressed belief the war will continue after a bombing halt and said the Viet Cong intends to continue fighting until the United States recognizes it.

A Circleville woman was injured when the car she was a passenger in upset on Route 23 Wednesday.

Taken to Berger Hospital for emergency treatment of injuries was Fannie Cooper, 42, of 229 E. Mill St.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Raymond Sisterman, 42, of 208 E. Mill St.

Sisterman was southbound on Route 23 about one half mile south of South Bloomfield at 4:10 p.m. when the accident occurred, according to a report of the State Highway Patrol.

The car went off the right side of the road, slid down an embankment and flipped over, coming to rest on its wheels.

The driver was cited for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead.

World Service Group Meets

A meeting was held Wednesday at the Calvary United Methodist Church to make plans for the Church World Service CROP Community Appeal which will be held in Pickaway County during the Thanksgiving season.

Several ministers and laymen of the area were present along with the general chairman, R. E. (Russ) Palm. It is expected that the campaign this year will be a house-to-house canvass. A goal of $1,000 has been set for this community.

CROP ships tons of food to starving men, women and children in some 40 countries each year, but it also helps to attack the root causes of hunger. The long range objective is to make it possible for people to help themselves — to "give them more than food", and opportunity for human dignity and self-respect.

Contributions may be mailed any time to Mrs. Clarence Boyer, Route 1, treasurer for Pickaway County.

stand for peace is safeguarded and we can overcome all obstacles and pressures, and we can safeguard our independence and liberty."

In Tokyo, the newspaper Tokyo Shimbun quoted Australian correspondent Wilfred Burchett as saying that the Viet Cong has ordered a de-escalation of fighting in South Vietnam in expectation of a U.S. bombing halt.

Burchett, who often reflects Hanoi's views, said the North Vietnamese are reacting guardedly to rumors of a bombing halt but judge that there is a possibility it could happen before next Tuesday's presidential election.

Burchett expressed belief the war will continue after a bombing halt and said the Viet Cong intends to continue fighting until the United States recognizes it.

1-Car Mishap Hurts Woman

A Circleville woman was injured when the car she was a passenger in upset on Route 23 Wednesday.

Taken to Berger Hospital for emergency treatment of injuries was Fannie Cooper, 42, of 229 E. Mill St.

She was a passenger in a car driven by Raymond Sisterman, 42, of 209 E. Mill St.

Sisterman was southbound on Route 23 about one half mile south of South Bloomfield at 4:10 p.m. when the accident occurred, according to a report of the State Highway Patrol.

Sisterman stated that his attention was diverted from the road for a second and that when he looked up again traffic in front of him had slowed down. He stated that he applied his brakes but was unable to stop.

The car went off the right side of the road, slid down an embankment and flipped over, coming to rest on its wheels.

The driver was cited for failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead.

World Service Group Meets

A meeting was held Wednesday at the Calvary United Methodist Church to make plans for the Church World Service CROP Community Appeal which will be held in Pickaway County during the Thanksgiving season.

Several ministers and laymen of the area were present along with the general chairman, R. E. (Russ) Palm. It is expected that the campaign this year will be a house-to-house canvass. A goal of $1,000 has been set for this community.

CROP ships tons of food to starving men, women and children in some 40 countries each year, but it also helps to attack the root causes of hunger. The long range objective is to make it possible for people to help themselves — "to give them more than food," and opportunity for human dignity and self-respect.

Contributions may be mailed any time to Mrs. Clarence Boyer, Route 1, treasurer for Pickaway County.

Setback for Marxism

No comments concerning the Soviet rape of Czechoslovakia have been more pungent than those coming from within the leftist camp. The following reaction in the British weekly, The Statesman, needs no further discussion, other than to point out that publication has been the leading socialist, pro-Soviet publication in Britain and Western Europe for 50 years.

"In order that some 14 million people in Czechoslovakia should remain voiceless subjects rather than critical friends, the Russians have abandoned all semblance of representing anything more than the selfish hysteria of a vast backward state.

"Socialists in the West — and the more intelligent Western Marxists — have argued for 12 years that Eastern Europe could undergo peaceful change. It is now apparent that they were wrong.

"We are back to Square One: Not only to 1956, but to 1948; to the original ice age of the cold war. Russian policy in Eastern Europe is now evidently based on monolithic resistance to change. The social, strategic and human map must reflect the results of the second World War and nothing else.

"It is no longer worth making excuses for Soviet communism or for parties that acknowledge the Soviet Union as an authority, a leader or a goal. Worse, it is no longer worth hoping that any humanized marxism can come out of Eastern Europe. The doctrine may permit it, but the circumstances do not.

"Earlier this year, it seemed briefly as if, somewhere between Paris and Prague, some relief might be found for the European Left's emotional aridity and intellectual impasse. Both columns of that arch have now fallen. It will take a long time to rebuild."

Vote For Issue No. 1

The Herald today joins other Ohio newspapers and businesses who have endorsed State Issue No. 1 which will appear on Ohio's November election ballot.

Issue No. 1 is a state constitutional amendment authorizing the General Assembly to issue bonds to build highways, eliminate traffic bottlenecks and construct needed statewide public improvements.

Statewide public improvements include water pollution control, improved mental health facilities, more parks and recreation areas, police and fire training facilities, more county airports, expanded vocational training and higher education programs in addition to creating about 100,000 new jobs.

The benefits from State Issue No. 1, if passed on Tuesday, will be felt by every resident of Ohio without an increase in taxes.

We urge you to vote YES for Issue No. 1.

NEW YORK (AP) — If "heavy-handed bureaucratic regulatory schemes" have been hurting the securities industry, as Richard M. Nixon indicated in a letter to brokers, it is difficult to prove by the popular statistics.

New York Stock Exchange volume in September averaged 13.4 million shares, which is reliably estimated to mean about $9 million a day in commissions. Keep that up and the total comes to around $1.87 billion a year.

Laff-A-Day

"Now then, dear, what did you want to tell me about my bridge bidding that had to wait till we got home?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

PERT WALL STREET operative Annabelle spotted an irresistible ad in the classified section of a respected New York newspaper the other day: "For sale: one fink coat, cheap." Miss Annabelle also defines "inflation" as "the time when those who have saved for a rainy day get soaked."

Old Judge Hornblow, a recognized authority in cattle circles, was selecting the winners in a Fort Worth show when the committee in charge, bent on enlivening the proceedings somewhat, asked if he would judge a group of heifers not on the program. "Certainly," nodded the obliging judge, whereupon a bevy of beautiful girls in scant bikinis pranced into the ring.

Old Judge Hornblow never batted an eyelash. He simply boomed over the loud-speaker system, "Folks, I'm not accustomed to judging heifers with their blankets on. If the owners will now remove the blankets, I'll proceed with the judging."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

It is a constant source of wonder to me and my friends that medicine and science have progressed as far as they have without having learned anything about the common cold. It still seems to strike all of us as soon as the cold weather starts and, worse, there does not seem to be any way to prevent it.

Have there been any further advances in this area and are there any new forms of treatment when the common cold strikes?

Dear Mr. H.:
You have just joined the very sophisticated club of physicians who readily admit their total ignorance about the common cold. It is true that the discovery of the antibiotics, the creation of the heart-lung machines, polio, measles and mumps vaccines, and the contemplated landing on the moon, are immense in their scope as compared to learning the deviousness of that sly little virus that causes the "not so common" cold. It simply refuses to reveal its secret and continues to plague all of us.

I once quoted a famous physician, Sir William Osler, who said: "The only way to treat the common cold is with contempt." Another brilliant medical statement on the common cold was "I doesn't matter what you do, it will either last for two weeks or fourteen days."

In my own practice I have begun more and more to believe that there is only one way to prevent a common cold. This bit of information was inherited from my grandmother, who believed that a woolen scarf, heavy rubbers and a tiny bead of garlic sewn into a jacket and worn over the chest was the only scientific method to avoid a common cold. To this, I add, "and an excellent way to avoid all your friends and their gracious gifts of viruses born on the wings of their sneezes."

For the cure of the common cold there has always been the standard universal remedy of hot concentrated chicken soup. Actually a great deal of information is known about the common cold. What is so frustrating is that there are so many different viruses responsible for the broad common cold. We do know that the infecting agent is a virus and that the illness is exceedingly contagious and readily transmitted by coughing and sneezing.

According To Boyle

By JOY STILLE (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — When the calendar and a series of gentle little reminder cards indicated that it was long past the time for a confrontation between my husband and the family dentist, it fell to me to arrange the meeting faced with equal dread by both parties involved.

With the appointment made, I had only to persuade, threaten, cajole, command, beguile, urge and insist that my unspeakable spouse appear as per my promise.

All went well in this initial get-together, with the two men clapping each other on the back in comradely greeting and exchanging jokes and other pleasantries. They remained on a friendly basis throughout the encounter because the dentist on this occasion merely took X-rays. The actual work would follow later—as much later as my husband could manage.

I bowed out of the picture and left them to arrange their future rendezvous. My reluctant relative decided to make the next appointment for a Thursday, planning to come home from work early.

That day arrived but the patient didn't. His secretary had telephoned to report that he was in conference and couldn't make it. Another date was set for the following Thursday.

This time I called, conveying the news that he had left the night before on a sudden trip to Washington. At this point I learned that a tooth extraction was in the offing and the hurry-up journey took on added significance. I ruthlessly and optimistically rescheduled the work for the following Thursday.

On this day I rushed home, ready to offer hot tea and warm sympathy to a convalescent, only to find that an important meeting had come up and he'd canceled again. Despairing of making it on a working day, he agreed to give up his Saturday in an easy chair watching football in favor of a session in the dental chair.

We had previously planned an out-of-town trip for the weekend but in view of the pending action at the dentist's office we took an early train back Saturday.

The phone was ringing as we got in the house—the nurse explained that an emergency had come up and that the appointment would have to be postponed until the next Saturday. My husband nobly hid his disappointment and resigned himself to an afternoon of viewing television.

Last week we actually made connections. My brave boy refused my offer to stay and hold his hand so I nervously waited in the outer office listening for sounds of struggle in the inner sanctum.

He emerged with a relieved look and a sheepish grin that revealed no gap. It seems that the dentist had merely filled a tooth this time and the extraction was set for the next visit.

Well, doc, I got him in your clutches once and you didn't take advantage of the opportunity. From now on, you're on your own.

Rafferty In Home Stretch

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Dr. Max Rafferty, the California educator who speaks his mind refreshingly without encumbering the airwaves with what has been called "pedagogy," pulled off one miracle last spring when he beat the incumbent U.S. Senator Tom Kuchel in the Republican Senatorial primary. He could be on the verge of a second miracle.

True enough, the pollsters haven't been conspicuously kind to Max; they have shown him running behind former State Comptroller Alan Cranston, his rather colorless Democratic opponent. Somehow the word has been spread that Max is an "extreme" sort of fellow, which seems an odd charge when you actually read some of his recommendations about public education. Checking over Rafferty's public statements, I find that —

1. He supports the neighborhood school, but he also advocates redrawing attendance zones to get a better mix of black and white students, and he is for busing on a voluntary basis where parents want it.

2. He suggests paying bonuses to slum teachers in order to lure the best teaching brains to take on the most difficult and challenging jobs.

3. He calls upon teachers to regard their calling as a sacred profession. They should, he said, rely on the proper and legitimate weapons of the profession — i.e., logic, reasoning and persuasion — to get themselves salary raises. Speaking of strikes by members of a profession, he says, "I don't recall any instances where the Mayo Clinic surgical staff went out on strike because the management was unwilling to raise fee rates."

4. He likes Al Capp, the cartoonist who satirizes without stooping to personal invective, and Walt Disney, who has restored enchantment to a dreary world. And he deplors the disappearance of good literature about heroes from the primary grades.

So this is the man who is called an "extremist." Max does use colorful words, but he is actually a man of great common sense and moderation. And, as was the case in his primary contest with Tom Kuchel, he is now exhibiting the staying power that has always come to his aid in his career as a public figure.

The truth is that polling, in California, is a tricky business. Presumably Cranston has been scoring in the polls by dealing in old muck about Rafferty's 4F draft status in World War II, when Max was turned down because of flat feet.

Well, Hubert Humphrey was turned down because he had a color vision defect and a double hernia, which didn't keep Franklin D. Roosevelt Junior from throwing Hubert's lack of a war record in his face. This sort of going behind draft board records strikes one as most juvenile, especially when indulged by Alan Cranston, the old United World Federalist who has been courting the California pacifist vote.

Events, at the eleventh hour, give some promise of coming to Max Rafferty's rescue. The man doesn't like riots; to quote him, he wonders "how many of my fellow countrymen are as sick as I am of the traffic tie-ups, the highway blocking, the police-baiting, the rapid placards, and the general aura of unwashed disinhibition exuding from . . . bearded characters who have apparently adopted demonstrating as a lifelong career." A few weeks ago, when Berkeley was quiescent, this could be passed off as hyperbole. But all of a sudden the more militant students at the University of California grabbed a college building at Berkeley and announced that the authorities could ransom it by giving college credits for a lecture series by Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver. The activities of the Black Panthers are undoubtedly part of the new urban scene, which students are entitled to know about.

Nonetheless it remains a fact that Cleaver has no academic credentials. If credits were to be granted for listening to him, why not for listening to Muhammed Ali, or Stokely Carmichael, or Olympic protester Tommy Smith?

Californians might be willing to debate this question, and Max Rafferty has himself called for more "substance" in college teaching. But this does not change the fact that lots of people are sick of the appeal at Berkeley means that events are still outpacing Max Rafferty's hyperbole, making it seem more than ever a sober description of reality. As a man who knows the score Max could make it to the U.S. Senate yet.

Woman Indicted In Embezzlement Of $100,000

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Mary B. Kettler, who worked 22 years at the First Federal Savings & Loan Assn. in Canton, was indicted by the federal grand jury Wednesday for allegedly embezzling nearly $100,000 from her longtime employer.

Miss Kettler, 54, was charged with embezzling nearly $20,000 a year between 1963 and April of this year.

Asst. U.S. Atty. James L. Oaker said the woman apparently started taking money in 1959 and continued until this spring when she was discovered and fired.

"Either she's a genius or something is wrong somewhere," Oaker said. "It's amazing she was not found out sooner."

Setback for Marxism

No comments concerning the Soviet rape of Czechoslovakia have been more pungent than those coming from within the leftist camp. The following reaction in the British weekly, The Statesman, needs no further discussion, other than to point out that publication has been the leading socialist, pro-Soviet publication in Britain and Western Europe for 50 years.

"In order that some 14 million people in Czechoslovakia should remain voiceless subjects rather than critical friends, the Russians have abandoned all semblance of representing anything more than the selfish hysteria of a vast backward state.

"Socialists in the West — and the more intelligent Western Marxists — have argued for 12 years that Eastern Europe could undergo peaceful change. It is now apparent that they were wrong.

"We are back to Square One: Not only to 1956, but to 1948; to the original ice age of the cold war. Russian policy in Eastern Europe is now evidently based on monolithic resistance to change. The social, strategic and human map must reflect the results of the second World War and nothing else.

"It is no longer worth making excuses for Soviet communism or for parties that acknowledge the Soviet Union as an authority, a leader or a goal. Worse, it is no longer worth hoping that any humanized marxism can come out of Eastern Europe. The doctrine may permit it, but the circumstances do not.

"Earlier this year, it seemed briefly as if, somewhere between Paris and Prague, some relief might be found for the European Left's emotional aridity and intellectual impasse. Both columns of that arch have now fallen. It will take a long time to rebuild."

Vote For Issue No. 1

The Herald today joins other Ohio newspapers and businesses who have endorsed State Issue No. 1 which will appear on Ohio's November election ballot.

Issue No. 1 is a state constitutional amendment authorizing the General Assembly to issue bonds to build highways, eliminate traffic bottlenecks and construct needed statewide public improvements.

Statewide public improvements include water pollution control, improved mental health facilities, more parks and recreation areas, police and fire training facilities, more county airports, expanded vocational training and higher education programs in addition to creating about 100,000 new jobs.

The benefits from State Issue No. 1, if passed on Tuesday, will be felt by every resident of Ohio without an increase in taxes.

We urge you to vote YES for Issue No. 1.

NEW YORK (AP) — If "heavy-handed bureaucratic regulatory schemes" have been hurting the securities industry, as Richard M. Nixon indicated in a letter to brokers, it is difficult to prove by the popular statistics.

New York Stock Exchange volume in September averaged 13.4 million shares, which is reliably estimated to mean about $9 million a day in commissions. Keep that up and the total comes to around $1.87 billion a year.

"Now then, dear, what did you want to tell me about my bridge bidding that had to wait till we got home?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

PERT WALL STREET operative Annabelle spotted an irresistible ad in the classified section of a respected New York newspaper the other day: "For sale: one fink coat, cheap." Miss Annabelle also defines "inflation" as "the time when those who have saved for a rainy day get soaked."

Old Judge Hornblow, a recognized authority in cattle circles, was selecting the winners in a Fort Worth show when the committee in charge, bent on enlivening the proceedings somewhat, asked if he would judge a group of heifers not on the program. "Certainly," nodded the obliging judge, whereupon a bevy of beautiful girls in scant bikinis pranced into the ring.

Old Judge Hornblow never batted an eyelash. He simply boomed over the loud-speaker system, "Folks, I'm not accustomed to judging heifers with their blankets on. If the owners will now remove the blankets, I'll proceed with the judging."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

It is a constant source of wonder to me and my friends that medicine and science have progressed as far as they have without having learned anything about the common cold. It still seems to strike all of us as soon as the cold weather starts and, worse, there does not seem to be any way to prevent it.

There have been many further advances in this area and there are new forms of treatment when the common cold strikes?

Mr. D. H., Ohio

Dear Mr. H.:
You have just joined the very sophisticated club of physicians who readily admit their total ignorance about the common cold. It is true that the discovery of the antibiotics, the creation of the heart-lung machines, polio, measles and mumps vaccines, and the contemplated landing on the moon, are immense in their scope as compared to learning the deviousness of that little virus that causes the "not so common" cold. It simply refuses to reveal its secret and continues to plague all of us.

I once quoted a famous physician, Sir William Osler, who said: "The only way to treat the common cold is with contempt." Another brilliant medical statement on the common cold was "I don't matter what you do, it will either last for two weeks or fourteen days."

In my own practice I have begun more and more to believe that there is only one way to prevent a common cold. This bit of information was inherited from my grandmother, who believed that a woolen scarf, heavy rubbers and a tiny bead of garlic sewn into a jacket and worn over the chest was the only scientific method to avoid a common cold. To this, I add, "and an excellent way to avoid all your friends and their gracious gifts of viruses born on the wings of their sneezes."

For the cure of the common cold there has always been the standard universal remedy of hot concentrated chicken soup. Actually a great deal of information is known about the common cold. What is so frustrating is that there are so many different viruses responsible for the broad common cold. We do know that the infecting agent is a virus and that the illness is exceedingly contagious and readily transmitted by coughing and sneezing.

According To Boyle

By JOY STILLEN (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — When the calendar and a series of gentle little reminder cards indicated that it was long past the time for a confrontation between my husband and the family dentist, it fell to me to arrange the meeting faced with equal dread by both parties involved.

With the appointment made, I had only to persuade, threaten, cajole, command, beguile, urge and insist that my unsponky spouse appear as per my promise.

All went well in this initial get-together, with the two men clapping each other on the back in comradely greeting and exchanging jokes and other pleasantries. They remained on a friendly basis throughout the encounter because the dentist on this occasion merely took X-rays. The actual work would follow later—as much later as my husband could manage.

I bowed out of the picture and left them to arrange their future rendezvous. My reluctant relative decided to make the next appointment for a Thursday, planning to come home from work early.

That day arrived but the patient didn't. His secretary had telephoned to report that he was in conference and couldn't make it. Another date was set for the following Thursday.

This time I called, conveying the news that he had left the night before on a sudden trip to Washington. At this point I learned that a tooth extraction was in the offing and the hurry-up journey took on added significance. I ruthlessly and optimistically rescheduled the work for the following Thursday.

On this day I rushed home, ready to offer hot tea and warm sympathy to a convalescent, only to find that an important meeting had come up and he'd canceled again. Despairing of making it on a working day, he agreed to give up his Saturday in an easy chair watching football in favor of a session in the dental chair.

We had previously planned an out-of-town trip for the weekend

but in view of the pending action at the dentist's office we took an early train back Saturday.

The phone was ringing as we got in the house—the nurse explained that an emergency had come up and that the appointment would have to be postponed until the next Saturday. My husband nobly hid his disappointment and resigned himself to an afternoon of viewing television.

Last week we actually made connections. My brave boy refused my offer to stay and hold his hand so I nervously waited in the outer office listening for sounds of struggle in the inner sanctum.

He emerged with a relieved look and a sheepish grin that revealed no gap. It seems that the dentist had merely filled a tooth this time and the extraction was set for the next visit.

Well, doc, I got him in your clutches once and you didn't take advantage of the opportunity. From now on, you're on your own.

Rafferty In Home Stretch

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Dr. Max Rafferty, the California educator who speaks his mind refreshingly without encumbering the airwaves with what has been called "pedagogy," pulled off one miracle last spring when he beat the incumbent U.S. Senator Tom Kuchel in the Republican Senatorial primary. He could be on the verge of a second miracle.

True enough, the pollsters haven't been conspicuously kind to Max; they have shown him running behind former State Comptroller Alan Cranston, his rather colorless Democratic opponent. Somehow the word has been spread that Max is an "extreme" sort of fellow, which seems an odd charge when you actually read some of his recommendations about public education. Checking over Rafferty's public statements, I find that —

1. He supports the neighborhood school, but he also advocates redrawing attendance zones to get a better mix of black and white students, and he is for busing on a voluntary basis where parents want it.

2. He suggests paying bonuses to slum teachers in order to lure the best teaching brains to take on the most difficult and challenging jobs.

3. He calls upon teachers to regard their calling as a sacred profession. They should, he said, rely on the proper and legitimate weapons of the profession — i.e., logic, reasoning and persuasion — to get themselves salary raises. Speaking of strikes by members of a profession, he says, "I don't recall any instances where the Mayo Clinic surgical staff went out on strike because the management was unwilling to raise fee rates."

4. He likes Al Capp, the cartoonist who satirizes without stooping to personal invective, and Walt Disney, who has restored enchantment to a dreary world. And he deplors the disappearance of good literature about heroes from the primary grades.

So this is the man who is called an "extremist." Max does use colorful words, but he is actually a man of great common sense and moderation. And, as was the case in his primary contest with Tom Kuchel, he is now exhibiting the staying power that has always come to his aid in his career as a public figure.

The truth is that polling, in California, is a tricky business. Presumably Cranston has been scoring in the polls by dealing in old muck about Rafferty's 4F draft status in World War II, when Max was turned down because of flat feet.

Well, Hubert Humphrey was turned down because he had a color vision defect and a double hernia, which didn't keep Franklin D. Roosevelt Junior from throwing Hubert's lack of a war record in his face. This sort of going behind draft board records strikes one as most juvenile, especially when indulged by Alan Cranston, the old United World Federalist who has been courting the California pacifist vote.

Events, at the eleventh hour, give some promise of coming to Max Rafferty's rescue. The man doesn't like riots; to quote him, he wonders "how many of my fellow countrymen are as sick as I am of the traffic tie-ups, the highway blocking, the police-baiting, the rapid placards, and the general aura of unwashed disinhibition exuding from . . . bearded characters who have apparently adopted demonstrating as a lifelong career." A few weeks ago, when Berkeley was quiescent, this could be passed off as hyperbole. But all of a sudden the more militant students at the University of California grabbed a college building at Berkeley and announced that the authorities could ransom it by giving college credits for a lecture series by Black Panther leader Eldridge Cleaver. The activities of the Black Panthers are undoubtedly part of the new urban scene, which students are entitled to know about. Nonetheless it remains a fact that Cleaver has no academic credentials. If credits were to be granted for listening to him, why not for listening to Muhammad Ali, or Stokely Carmichael, or Olympic protester Tommy Smith?

Californians might be willing to debate this question, and Max Rafferty has himself called for more "substance" in college teaching. But this does not change the fact that lots of people are sick of the appeal at Berkeley means that events are still outpacing Max Rafferty's hyperbole, making it seem more than ever a sober description of reality. As a man who knows the score Max could make it to the U.S. Senate yet.

Study Shows Atomic Radiation Cuts Life Span, Fertility

The Circleville Herald, Thur. Oct. 31, 1968 5
Circleville, Ohio

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) A five-year study of desert animals on the Nevada nuclear test site shows constant exposure to low-dose radiation cuts the life span by half and fertility by a third.

In the first disclosure of results of an experiment with radiation of a type that survivors of a nuclear war would experience, Dr. Norman French said in an exclusive interview:

"Even such low-level radiation hastens the processes of aging, shortens the reproductivity period in females and reduces the number of young per litter."

French, a University of California at Los Angeles ecologist heading the Atomic Energy Commission study, said the conclusions were based on regular censuses and examinations of more than 900 cheek-pouched "pocket mice" and hopping "kangaroo mice."

"Most radiation studies have been concerned with the effect on individuals of high-level doses, the type they would get immediately after a detonation," French said.

"We set out to learn what happens to whole populations subjected to low-level radiation over long periods of time. We are all subject to more radiation—from fallout and medical sources—than our grandparents experienced, but science really knows very little about the long-term effects."

"The radiation source used in this experiment, Cesium 137, has a long half-life, that is, it remains significantly radioactive for decades. The dosage was calculated at 1 roentgen per day, equivalent to about two chest X-rays a day—a level people might have to live with for long periods of time after a nuclear war or even after a reactor accident."

The experiment is being made in Rock Valley, just inside the southern boundary of the AEC proving grounds and about 70 miles north of Las Vegas. The surrounding mountains contain the radiation within the test site; they also prevent the planned radiation level from being disturbed by occasional venting during underground nuclear testing at Yucca Flats, 15 miles away.

In this remote spot French and his group erected three 20-acre pens with quarter-inch mesh fencing buried 12 inches deep to keep the rodents in and desert foxes out. The pens are open to the sky but French said there is little depredation by hawks.

In the center of one of the 2,200-foot-diameter pens they put up a 50-foot pole topped by a canister of Cesium, designed so that an equal amount of radiation strikes all parts of the pen.

The canister is lowered into a shielded vault once a month so the scientists can go in and examine the tagged and marked rodents.

The other two pens have been left radiation-free for comparison.

The mouse population varies greatly from year to year due to climatic changes, but the mice receive no food or water from the scientists. They have to live off the land.

The lifespan of the mice in the radiation-free pens has averaged four to five months. In the irradiated pen, it averages 2½ months. The average span of fertility—the number of months when a female mouse can reproduce—has been cut by a third in the irradiated pen. The litter size also is smaller as aging is accelerated, but statistics on this are not yet available.

"There is a lot science doesn't know about the processes of aging," French said, "so we are not certain just why they are speeded up by radiation. We do know more about fertility, and here the effect seems to be due to the fact that there is a point in development when the female's ova—egg cells—are specially sensitive to radiation damage."

Miss Ann Davis
From England
Visits Here

Miss Ann Davis of Ewell, Surrey, south of London, England, returned to her home Monday after a three week visit in the United States. She was the guest of Mrs. Gayle C. Wolf of Columbus, the former Ann Denman of Circleville.

She visited several festivals, including the Pumpkin Show, Columbus Day Parade and Ohio State University Homecoming. She stated that she was favorably impressed by these community activities and feels that English people would benefit if they had more such events.

Miss Davis and Mrs. Wolf visited Niagara Falls, Ohio Caverns, German Village and other Columbus attractions, toured the Smucker food processing plant in Orrville and London, a contrast to London, England.

The last week of her visit was spent in Washington D. C. and New York City.

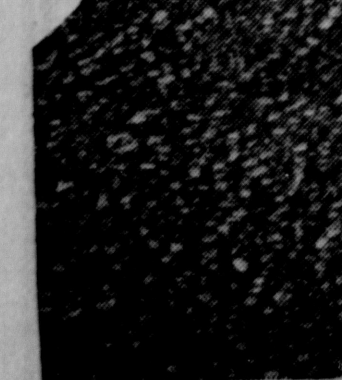

Miss Davis has been a pen pal of Judi Wolf for 10 years. Lt. Col. G. C. Wolf met her Girl Guide Troop in St. Paul Cathedral in London while there on temporary duty in 1958. Addresses were exchanged and the friendship was started. When the Wolf's were stationed in Eureux, France, the families exchanged several visits.

Miss Davis is planning to return to this country and visit many other parts of the United States.

United Methodist Church Women Hold Charter Meet

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Community United Methodist Church held its Charter meeting 3 p.m. Sunday, in the church sanctuary.

Mrs. William Cox, president, gave the invitation to membership and the purpose of the meeting. Following the call to worship, the group sang "Come Ye Thankful People Come."

Mrs. Boyd Stout gave the history of the Women's Society of World Service of the Evangelical United Brethren

Church and Mrs. Roloff Wolford read the history of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the former Methodist Church.

A meditation on the "Bread of Life" was given and the symbols of the ingredients of bread were explained by Mrs. Michael Karickhoff, Mrs. Robert Mills, Mrs. B. L. Kirkman and Mrs. Lawrence Johnson. Everyone joined in reading the purpose of the new organization and litany of purpose and pledged herself to the new organization.

Mrs. Edwin Bach sang "For All the Blessings of the Year" accompanied by Miss Reba Lee at the piano.

After the group singing of "God of Grace and God of Glory," each woman present was invited to sign the charter book of membership with past presidents singing first.

The meeting closed with a fellowship tea in the parlor. The tea table, centered with candles and flowers, was presided over by Mrs. Paul Wachs.

Any woman in the church who desires to be a charter member of the Women's Society of Christian Service who could not be present for the charter meeting may sign the book any time at the church through the month of December.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Illness Never Punishment For Sin

DEAR ABBY: I am 38, have never been married, but have had seven living illegitimate children, from 4 to 20 years old. One died. I have been in and out of the state mental hospital for 12 years. Sometimes I feel real good, and then I think I can't face another day. When they discharge me from the mental hospital, I am sent to the county home because no family will claim me. I have nothing, and nowhere else to go.

I feel so low and downcast and can't get it out of my head that God is punishing me for my past sins. I never miss your articles in the paper. You are my only friend. Can you help me, Dear Abby?

FEELING BLUE
DEAR FEELING: Illness, be it physical or mental, is not punishment for past "sins." One who suffers from depression is no more to blame than one who suffers from cancer, tuberculosis or diabetes, so get that idea out of your head. We have all "sinned" along the way.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Illness Never Punishment For Sin

DEAR ABBY: I am 38, have never been married, but have had seven living illegitimate children, from 4 to 20 years old. One died. I have been in and out of the state mental hospital for 12 years. Sometimes I feel real good, and then I think I can't face another day. When they discharge me from the mental hospital, I am sent to the county home because no family will claim me. I have nothing, and nowhere else to go.

I feel so low and downcast and can't get it out of my head that God is punishing me for my past sins. I never miss your articles in the paper. You are my only friend. Can you help me, Dear Abby?

FEELING BLUE
DEAR FEELING: Illness, be it physical or mental, is not punishment for past "sins." One who suffers from depression is no more to blame than one who suffers from cancer, tuberculosis or diabetes, so get that idea out of your head. We have all "sinned" along the way

OSU, Union In Accord

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University and Local 138 of the American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees reached a settlement Wednesday on the outside contracting issue after a week-long strike threat.

Robert E. Walsh, director of employee relations for OSU, announced the settlement after a four-hour meeting.

Walsh said the accord called for a written assurance by the university that will provide for the creation of an advisory committee of university personnel to initiate custodial programs and advise on existing programs to facilitate the expanded use of university custodial personnel.

A union-designated employee will also be on the advisory committee.

Walsh said the university intends to maintain using existing employees within all university operations except when specific circumstances may make it necessary to contract with outside sources.

Circleville, Ohio

From 'Hard-Core' Project Ford Hires 5,000th Man

DETROIT (AP) — Job-hunting, to Fred M. Wilson Jr., "is like a big cloud—you know the sun is going to shine sometime."

For 11 years Wilson has been looking for that sunshine.

The 28-year-old Negro has worked as a garbage man, ship loader, laborer, car washer and in dozens of other low-pay jobs from Detroit to Saginaw to Greenville, Miss.

None lasted longer than two months, he said.

Today, Wilson enters the Ford Motor Co. Rouge Plant near Detroit to work on the assembly line.

He has just become the 5,000th member of the group known as the "hard-core unemployed" to be hired by Ford in an inner city program which has spread throughout the United States.

Saying he was "a little nervous," Wilson, chewing gum and wearing blue jeans and a short sleeved yellow shirt, joined several other workers at a reception Wednesday. Some 200 inner city residents and antipoverty workers also attended the coffee-and-cake celebration of the first birthday of Ford's hiring effort.

Union Co. Sold To Manhattan Firm

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Robert Levy Jr., president of the Union Co., announced Wednesday sale of the department store firm to Manhattan Industries, Inc.

He said the Union Co., which operates stores in the Columbus area and at Chillicothe, will be a subsidiary of the Manhattan firm, a national manufacturer and retailer of wearing apparel.

Wilson was told his starting pay would be $3.48 an hour. "Hey, that's all right," he said. The young father of two said the most he had made since dropping out of high school in Saginaw 11 years ago was about $40 a week.

Wilson, living temporarily in a single room in a run-down area, said he is anxious to bring his wife, Rosemary, 20, and sons, aged 2 and 3, from his parents' home in Saginaw "as soon as I get the first couple of checks."

Henry Ford II, board chairman, began the project in October 1967, three months after the nation's worst riot in modern history struck Detroit.

The effort led President Johnson to establish the National Alliance of Businessmen last January. Ford headed the group. With industrial giants such as General Motors, Chrysler and Ford at the fore, the alliance set a national target of hiring 100,000 hard-core unemployed by July 1, 1969.

Leo C. Beebe, executive vice chairman of the alliance, says 1,000 businesses have signed contracts to hire the hard-core unemployed, the quota has been upped to 165,000 and 61,525 persons, mostly Negroes, have been put on payrolls.

Officials say that 70 per cent or more of those hired are still working at the same firm.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — With "no new taxes needed" as their strongest pitch in a well-financed campaign, backers of State Issue No. 1 are pushing hard for a "yes" victory on Nov. 5.

Most public opinion polls indicate the $759 million bond issue will become the ninth such constitutional amendment approved by Ohio voters since 1851.

Bulk of the support has come from Republican and Democratic Party leaders, the Ohio AFL-CIO, the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation and the Ohio Chamber of Commerce.

The labor group is plugging the bond issue in its monthly magazine, "Focus," which is mailed into more than 700,000 Ohio homes each month.

Scores of other organizations, large and small, have endorsed the bond issue.

No organized opposition has developed. This year's harmony is in sharp contrast to the struggle of early 1967 when Democrats and organized labor engineered a crushing defeat of the Ohio Bond Commission amendment.

Out of nine statewide bond questions submitted to Ohio voters in 117 years, OBC has been the only loser.

Ironically, the most controversial aspect of OBC—continued issuance of bonds without voter sanction — is a major feature of this year's bond issue amendment.

Money derived from sale of the bonds would be divided into $500 million for highways, including $250 million for urban traffic projects, and $259 million for other capital improvements, including $120 million for water pollution control, $100 million for educational facilities and juvenile rehabilitation, $20 million for parks and other recreation and $19 million for county airports and police and firemen's training academies.

The smaller portion — $259 million — would be issued only one time. But the highway bonds would be issued at the rate of $100 million yearly for at least five years and then at the same rate continually as long as $100 million was retired each year. Thus, the state would have a perpetual, revolving $500 million highway bond reservoir.

After the first five years, additional highway bonds could be issued without voter approval, providing the total debt did not exceed $500 million.

Those who fought OBC on its "open end" feature support Issue No. 1 this time on grounds that the "no vote" renewals would be limited by the voter-imposed $500 million ceiling.

State finance experts say the highway bonds can be retired with existing state gasoline and axle-mile taxes on commercial trucks and the other $259 million with general fund monies freed each year as older bonds from previous bond issues are redeemed.

Moonshining Big Business Across Nation

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — How big is moonshining these days?

About this big: If you have the money that moonshiners don't pay in taxes you could probably buy the National Football League. Then built a stadium for all the teams to play in at one time.

Louis E. Howell, executive director of the National Council Against Illegal Liquor, put it this way Tuesday to the National Licensed Beverage Association.

The annual output of illegal liquor in the United States totals nearly 56 million gallons and accounts for "an estimated $744 million tax swindle on federal, state and local treasuries," he said.

Howell said in Ohio alone 62 illegal stills were seized in 1966 but only 40 in 1967. He said this was indicative of stricter law enforcement.

Teays Valley School Board Purchases Car, Appliances

The Teays Valley Board of Education met in regular session Monday to approve the purchase of a new driver training car, new appliances and a tractor with mower and blade.

Bids were reviewed by the board and the decision was reached to purchase a car from Harden Chevrolet for $2,760.

The board requested that a car be loaned to them until the new car can be delivered.

Bids on the present driver education car were rejected by the board members who considered the bids too low.

Approval was given for the purchase of 1969 model appliances for the school with the present appliances to be offered for sale as in previous years.

Purchase of a tractor equipped with mower and blade was approved by the board for use at the Walnut School. A similar motion for a tractor to be used at the Ashville School was rejected.

The tractor and equipment will be purchased from Brown Implement Company in Ashville.

Final business of the board was to schedule its next meeting for Nov. 18, rather than the fourth Monday of the month, which would be Nov. 25, because of the Thanksgiving holiday.

'Danny Red' Sentenced In Germany

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — "Danny the Red" Cohn-Bendit, hero of the French student rebellion last May, was sentenced to three days in jail today for disrupting the arson trial of four opponents of the Vietnam war. Presumably he now will also have to serve an eight-month prison sentence which had been suspended.

"This trial belongs before a student court!" Cohn-Bendit shouted as the judge was sentencing the four arsonists to three years in jail. The judge ordered Danny led from the room, and two of the young defendants then jumped from their seats at the front of the court and sprang over the railing into the spectator's gallery.

When guards grabbed them, young sympathizers in the gallery swarmed around and tried to wrestle the two young men loose. During the melee smoke bombs were tossed.

The judge ordered the courtroom cleared and police dragged youthful protesters from the room.

The four were convicted of setting fires in two Frankfurt department stores last April as antiwar protests.

Archbishop Dismisses 4 Dissenters

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — After six days' silence, Archbishop Robert E. Lucey dismissed four of 51 dissenting priests Wednesday in a step that some said was only the beginning.

After his move, 40 of the 51 went to Lucey's home and demanded a meeting with him. They were turned away.

Thirteen more Roman Catholic priests joined in seeking the 77-year-old archbishop's resignation. More than 100 seminary students announced support of the priests and held a candle-light rally Wednesday night at the doors of a church where the archbishop was conducting a service. He ignored the students.

"It wasn't even a 24-hour notice—it was a zero notice," said the Rev. Roy Rihn, in describing the archbishop's dismissal of himself and three others from positions at Assumption Major Seminary here.

Dargusch Reinstated As Lawyer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court Wednesday reinstated Carlton S. Dargusch Sr., former state official, to the practice of law.

The order came three years after the former state tax commissioner and former trustee of Ohio State University was suspended indefinitely for violation of legal ethics.

The high court, after receiving no objections, acted on a recommendation by its Board of Commissioners on Grievances and Discipline that Dargusch be reinstated "without the requirement to take and pass one of the regular bar examinations."

In other action, the Supreme Court rejected separate appeals by a husband and wife convicted of sex offenses.

Robert Steele and his wife, Hazel, formerly of Madison County, were convicted of multiple counts in Madison County Common Pleas Court in 1965 and each received various prison terms on each count.

Trial records show that Steele, 53 at the time, and his wife and her two children lived on a farm on Route 3, Lafayette, near London.

According to records, the couple invited a boy and a girl from the Madison County Children's Home to stay with them during the Christmas holidays in 1964.

The girl later revealed she performed sex acts with Steele, leading to indictments of him and his wife, records show.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Albert G. Giles, director of the Ohio Office of Appalachia, on Wednesday asked the Appalachian Regional Commission to designate Clermont County as a potential growth area. The designation would make the county eligible for investment of federal funds.

Liner Queen Elizabeth Sails For Last Time

Will Become Hotel-Museum In Florida

NEW YORK (AP) — Her three, A-flat steam whistles roaring a heart-stopping farewell, the RMS Queen Elizabeth, the largest passenger liner ever built, sailed from New York harbor Wednesday for the final time.

As the 83,000 ton Royal Mail Ship left the 434th peacetime transatlantic crossing Wednesday of her 28-year career, she was escorted by a flotilla of harbor craft ranging from flag-decked tugs to saucy, bouncing motorboats.

To each craft that hailed her, the last of the leviathans returned the triple notes of the traditional salute of the sea.

Hundreds of New Yorkers jammed the pier end as the liner got under way and thousands more waved from office windows as she steamed regally down the Hudson River.

About 1,600 passengers—little more than two-thirds of her capacity—and a crew of 1,100 including her master, Commodore Geoffrey Thripleton Marr, were aboard for the final eastward crossing.

In retirement the Elizabeth is slated for service as a hotel, museum and convention center in Port Everglades, Fla.—a fate shared by her sister ship the Queen Mary, permanently berthed in Long Beach, Calif.

In a ceremony aboard the ship before she sailed, Mayor John V. Lindsay presented a plaque from the Department of Defense commemorating the liner's service as a troop carrier in World War II.

"Today we can say, 'The queen is dead; long live the queen' because in three months, the Cunard Steamship Co. will bring into New York the splendid new flagship, the Queen Elizabeth II," Lindsay said.

Muskie Attacks Nixon, Wallace

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Coming down the stretch of his vice presidential campaign, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie has decided to handle the two obstacles in the path of the Democratic ticket.

The Maine senator is attacking Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon on the economic problems of the "Nixon years" as vice president, and his "lack of concern" for the poor.

And Muskie dismisses third party candidate George C. Wallace as a man whose philosophy "should not be allowed to live."

Set Funds For Ohio
WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio's share in the $5.52 billion apportioned by the Department of Transportation in federal aid highway funds to the 50 states for the year starting next July 1 is $225.9 million, with $168.6 million going for interstate highways.

Gambling Issue Enters Washington Governor Race

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Recent disclosures that Democrat John J. O'Connell is a gambler has become the dominant issue of the Washington gubernatorial campaign.

The disclosure has thrown into the shade O'Connell's differences with incumbent Republican Gov. Dan Evans over taxes, the state's general fund surplus, the problems of migrant workers and other issues.

O'Connell, ruggedly handsome, 49-year-old son of an Irish immigrant union leader, has been state attorney general for 12 years. By his own account, he has played cards for money—sometimes for big stakes.

The matter came up on Oct. 10, when The Seattle Times published a photostatic copy of a document signed by O'Connell which it said was a $10,000 check cashed at the Tropicana Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev., in December 1965.

Three days later O'Connell said the signature was his, but it was a "line of credit" not a check.

He also said he had loved to play cards ever since he was a small boy. He said his net losses over 25 years came to $2,800.

Evans, a 43-year-old engineer seeking his second term with the prestige of being keynote speaker of the Republican National Convention behind him, was generally regarded as the favorite when the gambling story broke.

Many O'Connell supporters feel the revelations have hurt their candidate, particularly in the traditionally conservative areas of Eastern Washington. Some, however, argue that the gambling issue may have helped him.

As one O'Connell aide put it, "John doesn't ski or climb mountains, like Evans. He isn't a hunter or a fisherman. Sometimes people have wondered about him. Now they can see he's human after all."

OCAWI Rejects Reuther Bid

Union Won't Join Revolt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Auto Workers, which broke with George Meany's AFL-CIO and formed an alliance with the outcast Teamsters, has failed in a bid to lure another major union into its fold, informed sources say.

Overtures by Auto Workers President Walter Reuther were rejected by the 200,000-member Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International.

The Oil Chemical Workers, headed by A. F. Grosz, earlier this year joined Reuther in giving major financial and other help to the Negro Poor Peoples' Campaign here, at a time when the AFL-CIO was maintaining an aloof attitude toward it.

Grosz, whose union is heading into oil industry negotiations covering some 60,000 members, reportedly has decided against alienating Meany by signing up with Reuther's Alliance for Labor Action.

Reuther, a cofounder with Meany of the 13.6-million member AFL-CIO in 1955, pulled his union out of the federation earlier this year after a long running fight over policies on organizing, helping the poor, legislation and other matters.

The Teamsters were kicked out of AFL-CIO in 1957 on corruption charges.

Mild Weather On The Way

by THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Clear skies and mild, almost balmy, temperatures favored a large interior section of the country today while frost tinged meadows and woodlands across the East and parts of the South.

Temperatures remained in the 50s and 60s throughout the night in most of the Plains and in portions of the Rockies as well. The mercury bounded into the summery 70s and 80s over much of the region Wednesday and unseasonable mildness fanned into the Midwest.

Freezing weather crept eastward into the Middle Atlantic States during the night, however, and frost again nipped portions of the Southeast. Coldest temperatures before dawn were centered over parts of the Great Lakes where Pellston, Mich., registered 23 degrees.

Cranberry Marsh Natural Landmark

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cranberry Marsh in Licking County, Ohio, is eligible to be included in the National Registry of Natural Landmarks.

The area was one of nine sites recommended for designation as Natural Landmarks Wednesday by the Advisory Board on National Parks, Historic Sites, Buildings and Monuments.

Actor Is Shot By Policeman During Attack

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A policeman says he shot actor Lance Fuller, wounding him critically, when Fuller attacked him Wednesday with a three-foot iron pipe.

Fuller, 32, was taken to the University of California at Los Angeles Medical Center with a chest wound.

The officer, Thomas Blaire, was treated for a broken right hand.

Blaire said that when he tried to stop Fuller from hitting parked cars with the pipe Fuller attacked him, knocking the nightstick from his hand. The officer said Fuller yelled, "I am Jesus Christ—I am God!"

As he fell to the pavement, Blaire said, he fired the shot.

Robert Steele and his wife, Hazel, formerly of Madison County, were convicted of multiple counts in Madison County Common Pleas Court in 1965 and each received various prison terms on each count.

Trial records show that Steele, 53 at the time, and his wife and her two children lived on a farm on Route 3, Lafayette, near London.

According to records, the couple invited a boy and a girl from the Madison County Children's Home to stay with them during the Christmas holidays in 1964.

The girl later revealed she performed sex acts with Steele, leading to indictments of him and his wife, records show.

Liner Queen Elizabeth Sails For Last Time

Will Become Hotel-Museum In Florida

NEW YORK (AP) — Her three, A-flat steam whistles roaring a heart-stopping farewell, the RMS Queen Elizabeth, the largest passenger liner ever built, sailed from New York harbor Wednesday for the final time.

As the $3,000 ton Royal Mail Ship left the 48th peacetime transatlantic crossing Wednesday of her 28-year career, she was escorted by a flotilla of harbor craft ranging from flag-decked tugs to saucy, bouncing motorboats.

To each craft that hailed her, the last of the leviathans returned the triple notes of the traditional salute of the sea.

Hundreds of New Yorkers jammed the pier end as the liner got under way and thousands more waved from office windows as she steamed regally down the Hudson River.

About 1,600 passengers—little more than two-thirds of her capacity—and a crew of 1,100 including her master, Commodore Geoffrey Thripleton Marr, were aboard for the final eastward crossing.

In retirement the Elizabeth is slated for service as a hotel, museum and convention center in Port Everglades, Fla.—a fate shared by her sister ship the Queen Mary, permanently berthed in Long Beach, Calif.

In a ceremony aboard the ship before she sailed, Mayor John V. Lindsay presented a plaque from the Department of Defense commemorating the liner's service as a troop carrier in World War II.

"Today we can say, 'The queen is dead; long live the queen' because in three months, the Cunard Steamship Co. will bring into New York the splendid new flagship, the Queen Elizabeth II," Lindsay said.

Muskie Attacks Nixon, Wallace

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Coming down the stretch of his vice presidential campaign, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie has decided to handle the two obstacles in the path of the Democratic ticket.

The Maine senator is attacking Republican presidential candidate Richard M. Nixon on the economic problems of the "Nixon years" as vice president, and his "lack of concern" for the poor.

And Muskie dismisses third party candidate George C. Wallace as a man whose philosophy "should not be allowed to live."

Set Funds For Ohio

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ohio's share in the $5.52 billion apportioned by the Department of Transportation in federal aid highway funds to the 50 states for the year starting next July 1 is $225.9 million, with $168.6 million going for interstate highways.

Gambling Issue Enters Washington Governor Race

OLYMPIA, Wash. (AP) — Recent disclosures that Democrat John J. O'Connell is a gambler has become the dominant issue of the Washington gubernatorial campaign.

The disclosure has thrown into the shade O'Connell's differences with incumbent Republican Gov. Dan Evans over taxes, the state's general fund surplus, the problems of migrant workers and other issues.

O'Connell, ruggedly handsome 49-year-old son of an Irish immigrant union leader, has been state attorney general for 12 years. By his own account, he has played cards for money—sometimes for big stakes.

The matter came up on Oct. 10, when The Seattle Times published a photostatic copy of a document signed by O'Connell which it said was a $10,000 check cashed at the Tropicana Hotel in Las Vegas, Nev., in December 1965.

Three days later O'Connell said the signature was his, but it was a "line of credit" not a check.

He also said he had loved to play cards ever since he was a small boy. He said his net losses over 25 years came to $2,800.

Evans, a 43-year-old engineer seeking his second term with the prestige of being keynote speaker of the Republican National Convention behind him, was generally regarded as the favorite when the gambling story broke.

Many O'Connell supporters feel the revelations have hurt their candidate, particularly in the traditionally conservative areas of Eastern Washington. Some, however, argue that the gambling issue may have helped him.

As one O'Connell aide put it, "John doesn't ski or climb mountains, like Evans. He isn't a hunter or a fisherman. Sometimes people have wondered about him. Now they can see he's human after all."

OCAWI Rejects Reuther Bid

Union Won't Join Revolt

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United Auto Workers, which broke with George Meany's AFL-CIO and formed an alliance with the outcast Teamsters, has failed in a bid to lure another major union into its fold, informed sources say.

Overtures by Auto Workers President Walter Reuther were rejected by the 200,000-member Oil, Chemical and Atomic Workers International.

The Oil Chemical Workers, headed by A. F. Grosz, earlier this year joined Reuther in giving major financial and other help to the Negro Poor Peoples' Campaign here, at a time when the AFL-CIO was maintaining an aloof attitude toward it.

Grosz, whose union is heading into oil industry negotiations covering some 60,000 members, reportedly has decided against alienating Meany by signing up with Reuther's Alliance for Labor Action.

Reuther, a cofounder with Meany of the 13.6-million member AFL-CIO in 1955, pulled his union out of the federation earlier this year after a long running fight over policies on organizing, helping the poor, legislation and other matters.

The Teamsters were kicked out of AFL-CIO in 1957 on corruption charges.

Mild Weather On The Way

by THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Clear skies and mild, almost balmy, temperatures favored a large interior section of the country today while frost tinged meadows and woodlands across the East and parts of the South.

Temperatures remained in the 50s and 60s throughout the night in most of the Plains and in portions of the Rockies as well. The mercury bounded into the summery 70s and 80s over much of the region Wednesday and unseasonable mildness fanned into the Midwest.

Freezing weather crept eastward into the Middle Atlantic States during the night, however, and frost again nipped portions of the Southeast. Coldest temperatures before dawn were centered over parts of the Great Lakes where Pellston, Mich., registered 23 degrees.

Actor Is Shot By Policeman During Attack

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A policeman says he shot actor Lance Fuller, wounding him critically, when Fuller attacked him Wednesday with a three-foot iron pipe.

Fuller, 32, was taken to the University of California at Los Angeles Medical Center with a chest wound.

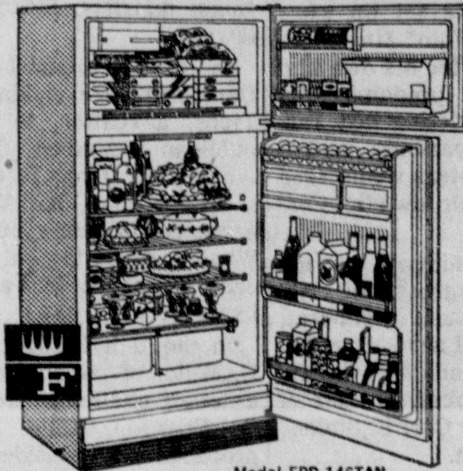

The officer, Thomas Blaire, was treated for a broken right hand.

Blaire said that when he tried to stop Fuller from hitting parked cars with the pipe Fuller attacked him, knocking the nightstick from his hand. The officer said Fuller yelled, "I am Jesus Christ—I am God!"

As he fell to the pavement, Blaire said, he fired the shot.

Republicans Predict Big Congressional Win In Ohio

12 The Circleville Herald, Thur. Oct. 31, 1968
Circleville, Ohio

By DON BANDY
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—"It looks like things are going our way," William M. McCulloch, veteran U. S. representative from the 4th District, says confidently.

The Piqua Republican is a shoe-in for re-election. He has no Democratic opposition.

McCulloch, however, wasn't applying his remarks to his own race. They concerned his belief that it's going to be another Republican year as far as the 24 congressional races in Ohio are concerned.

The Republicans, observers are forecasting, will win 17 or 18 and maybe all 19 of the seats they now hold in Washington. Democrats are nourishing hopes of upsetting Republican incumbents in the 3rd, 10th and 23rd Districts.

But while McCulloch can sit back and relax, assured of his future for two more years, the scene is set for what promises to be one of the closest congressional elections ever in Ohio.

In a rare battle, two incumbents are slugging it out in the 22nd District, composed of Cleveland's eastern suburbs. Neither of the candidates—Republican Frances P. Bolton and Democrat Charles A. Vanik—has tasted defeat in a congressional race. And both have been in the House for a long time.

The struggle between the two popular representatives is easily ly the No. 1 House contest. It's now rated a toss-up, with expectations it will go down to the wire. Mrs. Bolton, 83, has been in the House since 1940, and Vanik, 55, was first elected to Congress in 1954.

The match was set up when Vanik jumped into Mrs. Bolton's territory after his own 21st District became predominantly Negro by redistricting last January. Vanik apparently sensed that the black voters would soon want one of their own in Congress.

As a result, Ohio will get its first Negro congressman. Negroes Louis Stokes, Democrat, and Charles P. Lucas, Republican, are the candidates in the 21st District. Stokes, brother of Cleveland Mayor Carl B. Stokes, is favored to win.

An ironic twist to that contest is that Louis Stokes and Lucas fought side by side to open the way for election of the state's first Negro congressman. Lucas was the plaintiff in a suit which led to realigning the congressional districts. Stokes was his lawyer.

In the 3rd District (Dayton), Democrats are looking to Paul Tipps, a realtor, to upset Republican incumbent Charles W. Whalen Jr. Tipps is conducting a strong race, but Whalen is expected to come out on top. Whalen, 47, is the only Republican incumbent to be endorsed by labor.

In the 10th District, Clarence E. Miller of Lancaster is facing a tough challenge from Harry B. Crewson, Ohio University professor and president of Athens City Council. But Miller is expected to retain his seat.

Democrats also are pouring it on in the 23rd District, but again the Republican incumbent William E. Minshall, is expected to be sent back to Washington. His opponent is James V. Stanton, 36-year-old president of Cleveland City Council.

Republicans, likewise, say they have a good chance of turning out a Democratic incumbent, Thomas L. Ashley, in the 9th District, Toledo. Ben Marsh, the GOP hopeful, is conducting a vigorous campaign and has been endorsed by both Toledo newspapers in the traditionally Democratic area.

The endorsement, sources say, carries weight, and in addition Ashley lost an estimated 8,000-10,000 Democratic votes to another district in January's re-map.

Among the famous "name" candidates who are expected to win handily again is Robert Taft Jr., Cincinnati Republican.

His Democratic opponent, Karl F. Heiser, 63, a psychologist, admits he's in an uphill battle against Taft, who's reportedly looking ahead to 1970 and the governor's race.

Other Republican incumbents picked to win re-election are Donald D. Clancy, 2nd District, Cincinnati; Delbert L. Latta, 5th Bowling Green; William H. Harsha, 6th, Portsmouth; Clarence

J. Brown Jr., 7th, Urbana; Jackson E. Betts, 8th, Findlay; J. William Stanton, 11th, Painesville; Samuel L. Devine, 12th, Columbus; Charles A. Mosher, 13th, Oberlin; William H. Ayres, 14th, Akron; Chalmers P. Wyllie, 15th, Columbus; Frank T. Bow, 16th, Canton; John M. Ashbrook, 17th, Johnstown; and Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, 24th, Middletown.

The Democratic incumbents favored for re-election are Wayne L. Hays, 18th, Flushing; Michael J. Kirwan, 19th, Youngstown; and Michael A. Feighan, 20th, Cleveland.

8 Indicted In Holdups

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Eight men were indicted by the federal grand jury Wednesday in connection with separate bank robberies in Cleveland, Warren and Youngstown.

Accused of taking $14,748 from the Peoples Bank of Youngstown, Aug. 21 were Howard S. Atkinson, 24, Ronald J. Robinson, 18, and Ervina L. Springs, 25, all of Youngstown.

Joseph Bellamy, 22, James Robertson, 19, and Lawrence Horn, 17, all Clevelanders now held in Cuyahoga County Jail, were indicted for the Feb. 12 armed robbery of $1,140 from the Third Federal Savings & Loan.

Accused of taking $502 from the Second National Bank of Warren on Aug. 30 was Eugene J. Reihard, 33, of Warren.

Harvey A. Linet, 34, of Pittsburgh, Pa., was accused of taking $1,000 at the point of a toy pistol Aug. 22 from the Dollar Savings & Trust Co., Youngstown.

Money Order Forgery Ring Broken Up In Youngstown

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The federal grand jury here in a secret indictment returned Wednesday, named 10 persons as members of a $500,000 postal money order forgery ring centered in Youngstown.
Authorities said the nine men and one woman were the source of forged money orders and identification papers that have been showing up across the nation.
U.S. Atty. Bernard J. Stuplinski said "this is the biggest gang of its type broke up in this area and one of the largest in the nation."
Two of the nine men already are in custody.
Police Official Hits Candidates On Law, Order
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Deputy Police Chief Edward Davis says the solutions to lawlessness being proposed by presidential candidates in 1968 are impractical.
"They seem to be running for marshal of Dodge City rather than president of the United States," Davis told the Peace Officers Research Association of California Wednesday.
Davis said veteran police officers need pay raises to about $14,000 a year, wider search-and-seizure authority over narcotics and illegally possessed guns and state subsidies for police costs in major cities.
The greatest need, he added, is more "self-discipline on the part of the American people."

der, 31, Vincent E. Ponzo, 29, John A. Berasi, 47, and Donna M. Barber, 38, all of Youngstown; Malcolm E. Payne, 33, and James M. Conoico, 31, Warren; Shirley W. Rohrbach, 42, (a male), Girard, and John R. Dudley, 36, of Niles.
Turoff said all have criminal records.
Ponzo currently is in Ohio Penitentiary on state forgery charges and Payne is in federal custody in Wheeling, W. Va., accused of hi-jacking.
Turoff said John Krakar of Youngstown would have been named but was found shot to death last March in West Virginia. He was facing burglary charges then in Sharon, Pa.

Money Order Forgery Ring Broken Up In Youngstown

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The federal grand jury here in a secret indictment returned Wednesday, named 10 persons as members of a $500,000 postal money order forgery ring centered in Youngstown.

Authorities said the nine men and one woman were the source of forged money orders and identification papers that have been showing up across the nation.

U.S. Atty. Bernard J. Stuplinski said "this is the biggest gang of its type broke up in this area and one of the largest in the nation."

Police Official Hits Candidates On Law, Order

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Deputy Police Chief Edward Davis says the solutions to lawlessness being proposed by presidential candidates in 1968 are impractical.

"They seem to be running for marshal of Dodge City rather than president of the United States," Davis told the Peace Officers Research Association of California Wednesday.

Davis said veteran police officers need pay raises to about $14,000 a year, wider search-and-seizure authority over narcotics and illegally possessed guns and state subsidies for police costs in major cities.

The greatest need, he added, is more "self-discipline on the part of the American people."

Asst. U.S. Atty. Robert S. Turoff said the gang had received nearly $500,000 worth of postal money orders burglarized from U.S. Post Offices in Valencia, Pa., in 1965, Eirama, Pa., in 1966 and Flemington W. Va., last year.

Also Turoff said, the gang received auto titles and driver's licenses burglarized from state bureaus in Elyria, Struthers and Youngstown in 1966 and 1968.

"They put a phony name on a bunch of orders, add either an auto title or a driver's license with the same phony name and sell the whole package to people who want to go on the road and cash the orders," Turoff said.

The grand jury named the head of the gang as Mario J. Guerrieri, 37, a Youngstown antique dealer and bar owner.

Indicted with him were Steve Gomeri Jr., 48, Robert C. Snyder, 31, Vincent E. Ponzio, 29, John A. Berasi, 47, and Donna M. Barber, 38, all of Youngstown; Malcolm E. Payne, 33, and James M. Conico, 31, Warren: Shirley W. Rohrbaugh, 42, (a male), Girard, and John R.

Evidence Indicates Vietnam War Still Deeply Mired

By GEORGE McARTHUR
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — If there is one agreement among American officials in Vietnam, it is that no U.S. president can quickly or neatly win the war or gain a palatable peace.

The hawks, made cautious by almost four years of war, make no predictions of victory dates. The doves, mindful of Korea's two-year armistice talks, foresee long and arduous negotiations at best.

Some see the possibility of a token American troop reduction—perhaps an initial 5,000 men—early next year. But no one will name a date when the army of South Vietnam might be able to stand alone.

Few officials give the impression that they hope for much from Paris in the immediate future. A bombing halt, in the opinion of many, might actually stifle Hanoi's attitudes.

The U.S. commander in Vietnam, Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, works on the assumption that the Communist command is now planning one more big offensive—in a few weeks or a few months.

"I just hope that Washington doesn't lose its nerve," said one civilian official who has worked in Vietnam for three years.

A ranking general added: "We came over here to do a job and we're spending a tremendous amount of our country's wealth. My biggest concern is whether we have the patience and the perseverance to get the job done. I believe we must."

A civilian official who has never reflected Washington's frequently rosy optimism points out that all the old problems—nepotism, corruption, inefficiency, bribery, desertions—are still here. At the same time, he feels that enemy strength is at low ebb and fewer than 15 per cent of the South Vietnamese now actively support the Viet Cong.

Adding up these pluses and minuses is the name of the game in Vietnam. Nowhere do they give a clear picture. But the most favorable balance sheet appears, right now, to be on the battlefield.

From the jungled hills of the 17th parallel to the swamps of the Ca Mau Peninsula, allied armies are sweeping and patrolling as never before—and the enemy refuses battle. High-altitude B-52 bombers rain more than three million pounds of bombs daily on enemy sanctuaries and staging routes. Jets, helicopters and artillery give allied forces a battlefield punch unmatched in history.

Since the first of this year U.S. figures claim that 166,200 enemy have died on the battlefield—against losses of 13,000 American dead and 13,600 South Vietnamese killed.

Most of the enemy losses came in three successively

weaker offensives of February, May and August.

These losses account for the lull in the fighting, U.S. intelligence officers say. The enemy had to pull back and replenish and re-equip his forces. U.S. military say that the fact that this paralleled the Paris peace talks was coincidental.

"We haven't gotten one scrap of evidence that this was any de-escalation," an American spokesman said. "We do have plenty of intelligence that he wants to try again, but for the moment his intentions have outrun his capabilities."

The U.S. command is little swayed by reports that the enemy has pulled five divisions—and some say seven—out of Vietnam and into sanctuaries in Cambodia and Laos. These troops are within half a night's march of allied outposts and on the order-of-battle maps they remain red and ominous.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese believe that infiltration—running at 30,000 monthly in August and 20,000 since then—has largely made up the enemy's manpower losses earlier in the year.

Counting the local force guerrillas, it is believed the enemy can field perhaps 220,000 men. In the main force combat battalions, 75 per cent of these are North Vietnamese regulars.

In addition the losses in enemy leadership have damaged him severely. One defecting soldier recently reported his battalion had lost three commanders in 10 days.

All this leads the U.S. command to believe that enemy losses will be still more staggering if another offensive comes—even though it would doubtless achieve some successes.

The Americans also profess confidence that the South Vietnamese army will stand up well to any new offensive.

On paper, the buildup begun by President Nguyen Van Thieu's mobilization order is doing well. All the maneuver battalions of the regular army have new U.S. M16 rifles and these are now being given the militia forces.

The military, militia and police forces now number about 825,000 men and the goal is one million by the end of the year.

The desertion rate, however, remains a serious problem and the actual number of men under arms is questionable. Many a militia outpost is nominally manned by men who show up only on payday. Some militia commanders flagrantly sell enrollment—the recipient pays for his military status, kicks back his pay and dodges the draft.

But ARVN ills go deeper than that and are rooted in politics. The military machine is still controlled by officers who fought for the French and 'outsiders' have a rough time.

Although the situation is improving, top appointments remain political.

Even though the ARVN has been taking more casualties than the U.S. forces for almost three months, the defense of Saigon, Da Nang and Hue—the nation's three biggest cities—remains largely in American hands.

"The day is not in sight when the ARVN could hold the 1st Corps Area—certainly not with the enemy in strength like he is now," reported a senior Marine staff officer. That area is along the demilitarized zone.

The remark is applicable also at other sore spots. ARVN needs more training, artillery and almost everything before it could stand alone against North Vietnamese regulars in their present strength.

However, ARVN, and particularly the militia forces, have shown increasing effectiveness in "the other war," the pacification of the countryside.

This is the war that has been largely directed by Robert Komer, the ex-CIA officer just appointed ambassador to Turkey.

There are 48,000 revolutionary development men in the villages in some 700 teams.

Last month enemy guerrillas killed 104 RD team members—double last year's rate—and the statistics indicate the guerrillas will continue to focus on them.

Komer's office claims 66.8 per cent of South Vietnam's population live in relatively secure areas—as opposed to 16.8 per cent in Viet Cong areas and 16.4 per cent in 'contested' areas.

Critics say these figures show only part of the picture.

"This isn't pacification, it's occupation," says one. "While the troops are there everything is fine. Pull the troops out and everything goes down the drain."

Since he shucked off his uniform and became an elected president more than a year ago, Nguyen Van Thieu has done little to inspire the war-weary populace. Months were taken up chopping down his former boss and rival, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

Last May, however, Thieu acquired more political stature when he named 65-year-old Tran Van Huong premier.

Huong, a gray-haired curmudgeon with a peasant's rugged face, has an unusual reputation for honesty. He also is a Southerner and this is important in a nation unwillingly dominated by North-born military officers.

A few weeks ago Huong kicked his own half-brother out of the government bureaucracy.

Many believe he would kick out droves of people if he had his way—and the people to replace those ousted.

The anticorruption campaign of Huong and Thieu has removed half the 45 province chiefs and more are slated to go. Perhaps 1,000 lesser officials and local police officers have been transferred. But these measures have hardly scratched the surface of what must eventually be done.

Evidence Indicates Vietnam War Still Deeply Mired

By GEORGE McARTHUR
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — If there is one agreement among American officials in Vietnam, it is that no U.S. president can quickly or neatly win the war or gain a palatable peace.

The hawks, made cautious by almost four years of war, make no predictions of victory dates. The doves, mindful of Korea's two-year armistice talks, foresee long and arduous negotiations at best.

Some see the possibility of a token American troop reduction—perhaps an initial 5,000 men—early next year. But no one will name a date when the army of South Vietnam might be able to stand alone.

Few officials give the impression that they hope for much from Paris in the immediate future. A bombing halt, in the opinion of many, might actually stiffen Hanoi's attitudes.

The U.S. commander in Vietnam, gruff-spoken Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, works on the assumption that the Communist command is now planning one more big offensive—in a few weeks or a few months.

"I just hope that Washington doesn't lose its nerve," said one civilian official who has worked in Vietnam for three years.

A ranking general added: "We came over here to do a job and we're spending a tremendous amount of our country's wealth. My biggest concern is whether we have the patience and the perseverance to get the job done. I believe we must."

A civilian official who has never reflected Washington's frequently rosy optimism points out that all the old problems—nepotism, corruption, inefficiency, bribery, desertions—are still here. At the same time, he feels that enemy strength is at low ebb and fewer than 15 per cent of the South Vietnamese now actively support the Viet Cong.

Adding up these pluses and minuses is the name of the game in Vietnam. Nowhere do they give a clear picture. But the most favorable balance sheet appears, right now, to be on the battlefield.

From the jungled hills of the 17th parallel to the swamps of the Ca Mau Peninsula, allied armies are sweeping and patrolling as never before—and the enemy refuses battle. High-altitude B52 bombers rain more than three million pounds of bombs daily on enemy sanctuaries and staging routes. Jets, helicopters and artillery give allied forces a battlefield punch unmatched in history.

Since the first of this year U.S. figures claim that 166,200 enemy have died on the battlefield—against losses of 13,000 American dead and 13,600 South Vietnamese killed.

Most of the enemy losses came in three successively

weaker offensives of February, May and August.

These losses account for the lull in the fighting, U.S. intelligence officers say. The enemy had to pull back and replenish and re-equip his forces. U.S. military say that the fact that this paralleled the Paris peace talks was coincidental.

"We haven't gotten one scrap of evidence that this was any de-escalation," an American spokesman said. "We do have plenty of intelligence that he wants to try again, but for the moment his intentions have outrun his capabilities."

The U.S. command is little swayed by reports that the enemy has pulled five divisions—and some say seven—out of Vietnam and into sanctuaries in Cambodia and Laos. These troops are within half a night's march of allied outposts and on the order-of-battle maps they remain red and ominous.

The U.S. and South Vietnamese believe that infiltration—running at 30,000 monthly in August and 20,000 since then—has largely made up the enemy's manpower losses earlier in the year.

Counting the local force guerrillas, it is believed the enemy can field perhaps 220,000 men. In the main force combat battalions, 75 per cent of these are North Vietnamese regulars.

All this leads the U.S. command to believe that enemy losses will be still more staggering if another offensive comes—even though it would doubtless achieve some successes.

The Americans also profess confidence that the South Vietnamese army will stand up well to any new offensive.

In the long run, everyone seems to agree, the strengthening of the army of the Republic of Vietnam—abbreviated to ARVN and pronounced Arven by the GI—is the most hopeful way to "de-Americanize" the war.

On paper, the buildup begun by President Nguyen Van Thieu's mobilization order is doing well. All the maneuver battalions of the regular army have new U.S. M16 rifles and these are now being given the militia forces.

The military, militia and police forces now number about 825,000 men and the goal is one million by the end of the year.

The desertion rate, however, remains a serious problem and the actual number of men under arms is questionable. Many a militia outpost is nominally manned by men who show up only on payday. Some militia commanders flagrantly sell enrolls—the recipient pays for his military status, kicks back his pay and dodges the draft.

But ARVN ills go deeper than that and are rooted in politics. The military machine is still controlled by officers who fought for the French and 'outsiders' have a rough time.

Although the situation is improving, top appointments remain political.

Even though the ARVN has been taking more casualties than the U.S. forces for almost three months, the defense of Saigon, Da Nang and Hue—the nation's three biggest cities—remains largely in American hands.

"The day is not in sight when the ARVN could hold the 1st Corps Area—certainly not with the enemy in strength like he is now," reported a senior Marine staff officer. That area is along the demilitarized zone.

The remark is applicable also

Since he shucked off his uniform and became an elected president more than a year ago, Nguyen Van Thieu has done little to inspire the war-weary populace. Months were taken up chopping down his former boss and rival, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky.

Last May, however, Thieu acquired more political stature when he named 65-year-old Tran Van Huong premier.

Days In Vietnam Numbered By Canteens Drunk

By JOHN T. WHEELER
Associated Press Writer

KHE SANH VALLEY, Vietnam (AP) — It was one of those blazing hot days when the word "grunt," nickname of Marine infantrymen, tasted particularly sour to the Leatherneck riflemen hacking their way through the jungle.

The day's hump, or hike under full pack, started on Hill 424, a knoll covered with elephant grass six miles west of the abandoned Marine combat base at Khe Sanh. Packs, including seven days' groceries, ammunition and other gear made the average load about 80 pounds.

Moving down the slope toward the east, the Marines quickly were swallowed by heavier and taller stands of the grass. It grows up to nine feet tall with edges that can cut unwary fingers to the bone.

Many Leathernecks wore light leather gloves because cuts can turn into jungle rot, festering sores that spread rapidly over the body. But most Marines in the demilitarized zone area have learned to live with the running sores and consider them no more serious than a man would a shaving nick in the "real world," as the United States is called.

Near the bottom of the hill, the dense grass held the muggy air close to the ground. Shafts of sunlight occasionally broke through the gloom. Moving along the mud-slick trail was like being trapped on a slippery treadmill in a sauna bath. Gulped air seemed to contain more water vapor than oxygen. Pounding hearts and straining lungs forced extra oxygen into taut muscles.

The column formed by Gulf Company, 2nd Battalion, 4th Marine Regiment, halted often. The men collapsed where they stood on the trail cut by machine-wielding Marines up front. No one was really that tired yet. But each man knew that every ounce of energy would have to be conserved to master the brutal day ahead.

Men began taking salt tablets to ward off heat exhaustion or heat stroke.

At the bottom of the first hill, the Leathernecks began wading through a chilly mountain stream. The knee-deep water was welcome even if it meant wet socks. With repeated foot dunking the soles of the grunts' feet began to shrivel, crack and in some cases bleed before the day was out.

The stream bed abounded with wild flowers, but few noticed them. On the trail, the trick is to close the mind to everything but the next step, the next rest stop and any sound or movement that could mean the enemy is sharing the jungle hell with you.

Because of the danger of enemy artillery, each Marine wore a flak vest, a zippered affair that protects against flying shrapnel but weighs 12 pounds and holds in body heat. Less than an hour out from Hill 424 the Marines were sopping wet from head to toe. Streams of sweat cut through caked red dust picked up when the Leathernecks hacked out fighting holes the night before.

By 10 a.m. heavy panting even after short climbs was clearly audible. The elephant grass and stream bed had given way to a four-foot deep, seemingly endless blanket of thorn bushes and vines. The heat increased as the Marines moved more and more in the full glare of the sun.

The smashed thorn growth on the trail became as slippery and treacherous as the red clay mud of the stream bed. Muscles repeatedly were wrenched into reverse as men fought for balance under their heavy packs.

By late morning, the Leathernecks could look back a quarter mile and see the hill they had started from more than two hours before.

Lunch time came and went without a chow break. The rest periods weren't long enough to eat, and the thought of heavy combat rations on overheated stomachs was too much for most of the men anyway.

Some had become dizzy from the heat despite the salt tablets and the careful pace. Echo Company on the left flank already had sent some heat casualties out in medical evacuation helicopters.

Men have died from the sun in Vietnam. Dehydration and a lack of sufficient salt cause muscles—including the heart—to knot and finally to refuse to function.

By midafternoon, the lead platoon reported a major river just ahead. The pace quickened as the men responded almost like beasts of burden to the promise they soon could drink their fill again and soak in cool waters.

As they reached the river, some men were staggering, close to collapse. The swift-flowing waters were muddy but many men plunged their faces below the surface as they waded across and drank deeply. Canteens were filled and iodine tablets added to purify the water.

Some men dipped helmets into the rushing water and poured the contents over their heads. A few simply sat down in the water, pack and all, as they reached the shallow water of the far shore.

Although refreshing, the crossing added to the Marines' burdens. Water-soaked packs, sleeping gear and clothing meant added pounds to hump up the steep hill in front of them.

Someone further up the chain of command decided to call a halt as the top of the hill was reached. Echo Company had four critical heat exhaustion cases and several more men in serious condition. The screams of one of the men could be heard clearly a half-mile away.

The Leathernecks would spend the night outside the ruins of Lang Con village. The temporary company command post on the lip of a 500-pound bomb crater was almost exactly one air mile from the crest of Hill 424 where the Marines had started 6½ hours earlier.

The zigzag, up and down track the Marines had followed probably had covered four miles or more.

In Vietnam, days often are measured in the number of canteens drunk and hours of walking, not in the straight-line distance covered.

As the Marines rested, they had only one certain knowledge of what the next day would bring—more blinding sun, another long hump, a new point on the map reached, another day closer to home.

NEW YORK (AP) — Political broadcasts in these campaign days have caused considerable disruption of the television entertainment schedules. Half-hour and five-minute paid broadcasts for presidential candidates have pre-empted all or parts of numerous programs.

But NBC Wednesday night was caught in a most unusual bind and one which must have puzzled viewers from coast to coast.

In mid-evening when an hour of country music was expected on the network's "Music Hall" program to be presided over by Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, there appeared, instead, President Johnson in a 15-minute paid political broadcast on behalf of Hubert H. Humphrey. That was followed by a 15-minute program promoting the candidacy of Sen. Edmund S. Muskie for vice president.

Then came some strange noises and flashes of light on the screen, after which the "please stand by" sign appeared for several minutes. Eventually, without any announcement, there appeared a musical combo flying on a magic carpet over what looked like a California freeway. Then Peggy Lee turned up for two songs—but no Roy and Dale. Shortly before 10 p.m. EDT we finally learned we had been watching a portion of a 1962 summer replacement series called "The Lively Ones."

NBC said it learned of the proposed half-hour pre-emption for the paid political broadcasts less than three hours before the President's Humphrey pitch was to go on the air. Since NBC had no half-hour shows Wednesday night in prime time, it bumped the scheduled "Music Hall" show—the whole show since the sponsor obviously didn't want any part of the action.

That left a half-hour hole to be filled, so an old tape show was pulled off the shelf.

Actually, it was not one of NBC's happier nights. The musicians' union strike resulted in an empty bandstand on its Johnny Carson program. Carson made a few jokes on the subject and from behind-the-camera Merry Andrews blew some rude noises on kazoo. Joey Bishop on ABC apparently tapes his competing program a day ahead, since his orchestra was on hand, but he was predicting that his show, too, would have an empty bandstand Thursday.

One NBC program that worked out interestingly was its early evening "The Virginian," the vehicle in which folk singer Buffy Sainte-Marie made her dramatic debut. She played an Indian girl who had been taken from her people and sent to a proper Eastern school. Accustomed to the white man's ways, she returned to the reservation to find she had lost her identity—accepted neither by the white world nor by her own tribe.

It all ended well, of course, since "The Virginian" always has a happy ending.

Mustangs Beat Paint Valley, Win League

By TONY LIGHTLE

Last Friday night the greatest Mustang Homecoming ever, was held. The Mustangs not only won their Homecoming game by beating Paint Valley 54-12, but also clinched the Scioto Valley Conference title for the first time in school history.

The evening was a complete success in spite of the foul weather. The rain and cold failed to stop the crowning of the 1968-69 Homecoming queen, Miss Donna Justus.

Miss Justus was crowned by two senior members of the Westfall grid team, Jack Moore and Gene Carfrey.

Homecoming attendants were Miss Barb Schriber, Miss Rebecca Fenstermaker, Miss Roxann Dennis and Miss Connie Bauhan. Their escorts were Pat Whaley, Ron Parsons, Don Greenwood and Ed Cornwell.

To climax the evening, a dance was held in honor of the queen and her court, with music provided by the Statesmen. Theme of the dance, Autumn Leaves, was effectively carried out by leaves placed on the

LAURA WRITSEL

Laura Writsel, a senior at Westfall High School, has received a letter of commendation for her score on the National Merit Qualifying Test which she took last November.

Miss Writsel ranks with the 39,000 students who are the upper two per cent of all students expected to graduate in 1969. These students are placed just below the semi finalists, scorewise.

Miss Writsel resides at Route 1, Orient, with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Milo Writsel. She is a member of National Honor Society, president of the Future Teachers of Westfall, and a member of the GAA, besides playing in the band.

She is presently enrolled in the college prep course and plans to attend Kent State University next year, majoring in speech therapy.

Little Bits

By SHERRY BILEK

Westfall's final football game of the season will be played this Friday night on the Teays Valley field. All dedicated Mustangs are hoping that it will not rain. The last two games have been under water.

The Westfall chapter of the National Honor Society has been hard at work selling football mums for the Homecoming. Students ordered corsages while at school for their mothers or dates, and picked them up at the game. Extra white mums were also on sale at the game. NHS would like to thank everyone who purchased a mum.

The Future Nurses Club of Westfall attended an open house at the Grant Hospital School of Nursing Oct. 20. The girls were entertained with a tour of the nurses facilities and a lecture on nurses training. Punch and cookies were served after the lecture. The six girls attending were accompanied by two mothers and the club adviser, Mrs. Lena Mowery.

Mansfield Council OKs Pay Boost

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — City Council which meets Nov. 5 is expected to approve legislation granting pay increases and improved fringe benefits to the city's 480 employees.

Mustangs Beat Paint Valley, Win League

By TONY LIGHTLE

Last Friday night the greatest Mustang Homecoming ever, was held. The Mustangs not only won their Homecoming game by beating Paint Valley 54-12, but also clinched the Scioto Valley Conference title for the first time in school history.

The evening was a complete success in spite of the foul weather. The rain and cold failed to stop the crowning of the 1968-69 Homecoming queen, Miss Donna Justus.

Miss Justus was crowned by two senior members of the Westfall grid team, Jack Moore and Gene Carrey.

Homecoming attendants were Miss Barb Schriber, Miss Rebecca Fenstermaker, Miss Roxann Dennis and Miss Connie Bauman. Their escorts were Pat Whaley, Ron Parsons, Don Greenwood and Ed Cornwell.

To climax the evening, a dance was held in honor of the queen and her court, with music provided by the Statesmen. Theme of the dance, Autumn Leaves, was effectively carried out by leaves placed on the Westfall's final football game of the season will be played this Friday night on the Teays Valley field. All dedicated Mustangs are hoping that it will not rain. The last two games have been under water.

Students ordered corsages while at school for their mothers or dates, and picked them up at the game. Extra white mums were also on sale at the game. Franklin Heights Is Final Home Foe Of Circleville '11'

It will be Parents' Night, Friday when the Circleville Tigers take to the field for the final home game of the 1968 football season.

Franklin Heights of the Metropolitan League will provide the competition for Circleville. The rivalry between Circleville and Franklin Heights stems back to the days when the Falcons were members of the South Central Ohio League.

The first game was played in 1958. The closely contested rivalry finds Circleville holding a slight edge in the series between the two teams. The Tigers have won five, Franklin Heights has won four, and one game ended in a tie.

Last year, Circleville emerged as a 25-0 winner, and the Falcons will be seeking to avenge that loss.

PICKED as one of the pre-season favorites to win their league, the Franklin Heights Gridders were tied by West Jefferson early in the season and then lost to Hamilton Twp., ending up in a tie with West Jeff for second place.

Franklin Heights is the only team that has beaten Washington C.H. this year. The Falcons did it when the Blue Lions were playing without the services of Lowell Harper, who was sidelined prior to the league start with a fractured jaw.

The Falcons won that game, 26-8. The Falcons are coached by Dick LeBeau, who is no stranger to the local fans. A London High School product, LeBeau was a coach at Miami Trace before moving on to Franklin Heights.

Don Glover, a 195-pound fullback, is the mainstay in the Franklin Heights' attack. He is a returning regular who logged more than 700 yards last year.

The Falcons had 13 returning lettermen, including seven regulars on defense.

The Parents' Night festivities will begin at 7:15 p.m. when the gridders, cheerleaders and managers are introduced with their parents.

A DANCE after the game will conclude the activities of the final home game.

NEW YORK (AP) — Pennsylvania's George Burrell has grabbed the lead as the nation's leading major college punt returner, while Bobby Hall of North Carolina State has moved into first in kickoff returns.

Burrell, third last week, has returned 22 punts 358 yards, for a 16.3 yard average, to move head of Jake Scott of Georgia with 27 for 347 and a 12.9 mark.

Hall, third a week ago, took the kickoff return lead with 19 for 495 yards, a 26.1-yard average. Jeff Allen of Iowa State was second with 16 for 478 yards and a 29.9 mark.

Wyoming's Bob Jacobs, a sophomore, continues as the top kick-scorer. He has hit on 19 of 19 conversions and 10 of 21 field goal attempts for 49 points. John Riley of Auburn and Kenneth Crotts of Toledo shared second with 44 points each.

Washington's Al Worley leads in pass interceptions with 11.

Starr Named As Offensive Player Of Week

NEW YORK (AP) — Tom Landry said it best when he summed up the first defeat of the season for the Dallas Cowboys:

"Bart Starr was just great." Starr was that kind of quarterback Monday night in the Cotton Bowl when he threw four touchdown passes and directed the revival of the Green Bay Packers.

The Packers pierced Dallas' Doomday Defense for 322 yards and a 28-17 victory. It was the sixth straight for the Packers over the Cowboys.

Starr's statistics showed 17 completions in 25 passes with one interception. As a result Starr was named by The Associated Press as the offensive player of the week in the NFL.

Cleveland Defeats Rochester In AHL

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Jim Mikol scored three goals in 71 seconds and led Cleveland to a 6-3 American Hockey League victory over the Rochester Americans Wednesday night.

All three scores were in the third period.

The first as a rebound on a shot by Cecil Hoekstra at 2:12 and the next at 2:25 on the ensuing faceoff, a shot of about eight feet.

Less than one minute later Mikol made a shot while falling that slipped by goalie Bobby Perreault.

Laurelville Faces 20 Game Slate

Laurelville High School faces a rugged 20 game basketball schedule this year with four returning lettermen and a new head coach.

The lettermen this year are seniors Mike Kneese, Gerald Disbennett and Dave Berard, along with junior Mike Shaw. The new coach is James Arnold, who came to Laurelville from Utica.

Arnold has been a varsity coach six seasons, compiling a 44-23 record in three years at Peebles High School, a 17-4 record at Woodsfield and an 11-8 mark at Utica, for a career mark of 72 wins and 35 losses.

A graduate of Otway High School in Scioto County in 1954, he attended Wilmington College, graduating in 1958.

He played junior varsity basketball there three years.

Married, he is the father of two daughters. He is presently working on his master's degree at Xavier University, Cincinnati.

The tallest cage hopefuls on the Wildcat cage squad this year are Gerald Disbennett and Mike Shaw, both just a little over six feet tall.

Boys coming from the reserve team are juniors Rick Fast, Mike Eveland, Steve Blum and Marty Unger. The sophomore cagers who may see some varsity action include Steve Smith, John Glick, Dave Thompson and Roger Weaver. Some of these boys will also suit up for reserve games.

The strong points that Arnold sees in his cagers are determination, hustle, good shooting and teamwork.

Missing from the squad is Bob Bowers, the 6-4 center who graduated. Bowers is presently a student at Wilmington College where he is a candidate for the basketball squad.

Laurelville opens the 20 game schedule Friday hosting Chillicothe Bishop Flaget. On Nov. 8 the Wildcats play Zane Trace.

Chattanooga, Weber State Gain In Small-College Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS San Diego State held on to its big lead over North Dakota State, while Chattanooga and Weber State made big leaps upward in The Associated Press' small college football poll this week.

The Aztecs, who made San Jose State their sixth straight victim 48-6 last weekend, drew all but three of the 17 first-place votes in the balloting by a regional panel of sports writers and sportscasters for 312 points.

North Dakota State, 7-0, didn't attract a single first-place vote, but had strong second ballot strength for 269 points to remain second.

Chattanooga, 7-0, vaulted from fifth to third following a 31-9 conquest of The Citadel, while New Mexico Highlands, 8-0, remained fourth and Weber State, 6-0, and Tampa, 5-1, tied for fifth. Weber State, which surprised Mississippi State 24-17

Hosket, May Together With Knicks

CINCINNATI (AP)—Bill Hosket, former Ohio State standout who signed with the New York Knicks Wednesday, joined the National Basketball Association club in Cincinnati Wednesday night and sat out the game on the sidelines.

But it was a reunion of sorts. Hosket's former teammate at Dayton Belmont High School, Don May, also signed with the Knicks recently and played briefly against the Royals Wednesday night.

And congratulating Hosket and May on their entry into the pro ranks was their high school coach, John Ross, who guided Belmont to a state championship in 1964 when Hosket and May were all-Ohio players.

Hosket, who just returned from Mexico City, where he was a member of the gold medal-winning U.S. Olympic team, and May, who starred at the University of Dayton, both said they were looking forward to playing together again.

"I know it's going to be a fight to get playing time but I'll do the best I can to catch up," said Hosket, who expects to dress for Friday night's game against Baltimore in New York.

Top Prep Grid Teams To Clash

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Two Warren high schools are in the football spotlight this weekend in a pair of games that could shake up the AP scholastic ratings.

Onrushing Warren Western Reserve, which zoomed into second place this week, risks its unblemished 8-0 record against seventh-ranked Canton McKinley.

And Warren Harding, deadlocked for 11th place on a 6-2 mark, takes on No. 9 Winterville at home Saturday.

The Panthers could crash the top ten with a victory over unbeaten Winterville, which boasts a 26-game winning streak. Harding bounced Massillon 23-12 last week and sent the Tigers skidding to 14th place.

Western Reserve, only 13 points behind No. 1 ranked Upper Arlington, will be bidding to bolster its position against a rugged McKinley team that has lost only to Niles McKinley.

The two Warren schools collided Oct. 4 with Reserve the victor, 14-6.

Scholastic sidelights — Unbeaten Shelby, ranked eighth in Class AA, has won 22 straight and is led by middle guard Calvin Dietz, a 6-foot-7, 245-pound senior who is being courted by Purdue.

When Garaway defeated Jewett 52-45 Saturday, 71 of the 97 points came in a wild first half, which could be a record.

Class A leader Newark Catholic gets its stiffest test of the season Friday when the Irish play at Danville, which has lost only once in eight games. Catholic has won 21 in a row.

Senior quarterback Randy Muntean of Lisbon kicked three field goals (22, 33 and 24 yards) as Lisbon upset Leetonia 22-20. The previous week, Muntean's 27-yard field goal on the last play of the game brought Lisbon a 3-0 decision over Beaver Local.

Stan Houck, a junior soccer-style kicker, booted two 28-yard field goals in Licking Heights' 32-0 triumph over Granville that clinched the Licking County League title.

Third-ranked Mentor scored its seventh shutout of the season in a 20-0 verdict over Mayfield that averaged a 12-7 loss to Mayfield last year.

Youngstown Chaney turned back Youngstown Rayen, a team it had lost to earlier by an 8-6 score, to cop the city series football title. Youngstown Ursuline and Youngstown Cardinal Mooney, two parochial powers, are reported ready to join the Steel Valley Football Conference.

McDonald, with an 8-0 record, won the Inter-County League crown for the first time since 1955.

Washington Court House, the South Central Ohio League champ, goes for its eighth victory in nine starts this week against Portsmouth. Tailback Lowell Harper needs only 27 yards to go over 1,000 yards rushing for the third straight year. WCH is tied with Toledo Central Catholic for 20th place in the rankings.

Miami Trace halfback Bev Lee set a school record with seven touchdowns in a 62-6 romp over Greenfield.

Don Jesioneck of Marion Catholic rushed for 296 yards against Highland to bring his total for the year to 1,701. Teammate Jim Taylor has gained 1,009 in only seven games.

Talk about flashy performances. Senior fullback Ed Fiber of Fremont St. Joseph gained 373 yards in 26 carries and scored four touchdowns in a 28-16 triumph over Lakota. Fiber now has 1,394 yards rushing for a school mark and his 373 in one game is another St. Joe record.

Newspaper Editors Think Nixon Will Win Handily

NEW YORK (AP) — Richard M. Nixon should win the presidency without difficulty, according to reports from 482 editors around the nation, the Bulletin of the American Society of Newspaper Editors said today.

"There is a possibility of a landslide," said the Bulletin, "but not the probability."

In electoral votes, the editors' monthly sees 233 votes "presumably safe" for Nixon, with another 187 votes "close, but leaning to Nixon."

Forty-five electoral votes were seen going to third party candidate George C. Wallace and 24 were believed going to Hubert H. Humphrey. An additional six states were estimated as "too close to call for anyone."

The results were based on a tabulation as of Oct. 18. "We think to call this a poll would be misleading," the Bulletin said. "Let it sit as a 'reading' by the country's editors three weeks before the election."

"With 270 electoral college votes needed," the Bulletin story continued, "Nixon's 233 'safe' votes give him a commanding edge. If New York falls his way, he's in. If he gets all of the close-but-leading states, he'd have 420."

"If the editors are reasonably accurate reporters of their states' leanings (and they have been in past 'readings'), it seems likely Nixon will wind up with something well over 300 Electoral College votes and the country will most likely forget the excited talk about the election being thrown into the House of Representatives."

The Bulletin story described Humphrey's chances as slim. "Even if you might be willing to put New York, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania and Texas in his list, he would have only 135 votes. That's only half the distance," the story said.

The Bulletin noted the following "strong strains" running

1. Wallace's campaign seems to have cut far more into Humphrey's strength than Nixon's.

2. Wallace's candidacy "has clearly pained many editors," even when they predict he may win in their areas.

3. The Democratic party organization is a shambles in many sections.

6 Cincinnati Inmates Face A-B Charges

CINCINNATI (AP)—Six Negro inmates accused of beating a white prisoner during a series of fights at the city workhouse Sunday were scheduled to appear today in Criminal Court.

The six, charged with assault and battery, were serving terms for convictions on various charges. They are:

Fred Calloway, 18, John Jasper, 31, Charles Foster, 22, Thomas Webb, 19, Dock McClure, 19, and Tyrone Dickenson, 23.

All six are Cincinnati. Authorities at the workhouse said investigations showed most of the fights were planned to take attention away from the attack on Richard W. Oney, 19, Chillicothe.

Oney underwent surgery for removal of a damaged spleen. Detectives said the fights apparently were triggered on a rumor that a Negro prisoner had been beaten by white inmates.
